Memories . . . pressed between the Lake Central offers students various opportunities for personal expression in clubs, sports and classes, illustrated by Lucy Muffet, Jil Kasper, Mike Pavell, Roger Hughes, Gary Massey and Barb Schelfo.

Instead of merely accepting reality, Centralites seek to improve it. They search for answers to today's perplexing

pages of your mind

Memories pressed between the pages of your mind. Memories sweetened through the ages just like wine*.

A dried rosebud within the pages of an album arouses certain thoughts for the one who pressed it there. Like the wilted flower, outstanding memories are preserved between the pages of everyday happenings.

These remembrances are not forgotten, instead they grow to a more tender, fuller meaning through the passing years for all who hold them. Remembrances bloomed from participation in the many facets of Centralite life. Some were content to remain only a face in the crowded hallways while others desired to achieve greater involvement. Scholars, athletes, performers and concerned organization members distinguished themselves within the jammed corridors to lead the maze of activity.

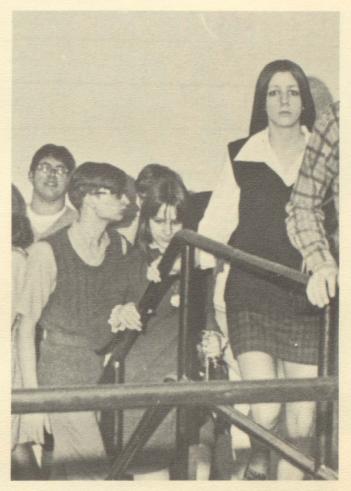

Receiving scholastic honors, capturing a conference title, marching at a professional football game, producing a large cast musical, winning a cheering award or coordinating club action were standards to work for and accomplish. In this way, each individual contributed to Lake Central.

As Centralites endeavored to attain their goals in areas of academics, sports, activities and clubs, each person gained knowledge and experiences to recall. The page may yellow with age and the rose may crumble to dust, but memories will never die.

problems: the Vietnam War, the welfare dilemma and the rising tension between Negroes and Whites.

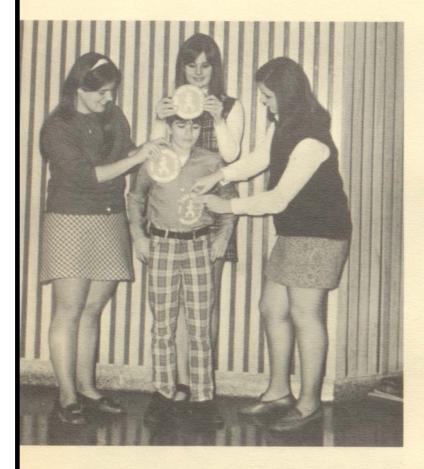

Lake's narrow stairways confront Indians with numerous frustrating difficulties, during each class change.

'Blue Power' rouses Lake's spirit

Quiet thoughts go floating down and settle softly to the ground, like golden autumn leaves around my feet. I touch them, and they burst apart with sweet Memories.*

"Blue Power" originated with "The Big Blue Machine" during football season, and this Indian battle cry grew stronger as the year progressed. Inspirational slogan buttons were sold by the senior class and displayed by victory bound Centralites. The class of '74 wore bright blue buttons that declared "I'm an LC freshman" during Homecoming Spirit Week. Choruses of "The Fighting Spirit" echoed as seniors exercised their privilege of testing frosh knowledge of the school song. Homecoming was enhanced by poster covered hallways, an exuberant pep rally, the longest parade in LC history and the presentation of two awards. The Spirit Stick was given to the sophomores for the decoration of their hall. General class enthusiasm and participation in Homecoming events won the first Tomahawk for the Seniors.

"Blue Power" fever, delayed frosh initiation and lively Homecoming festivities revealed to LCHS'ers that a memory filled year had begun.

Mr. Letterman Jerry Craven is supported by his fellow lettermen as he leads them in a Blue Power yell.

Many enthusiastic Indian supporters wore Blue Power Buttons which were sold by the Senior Class.

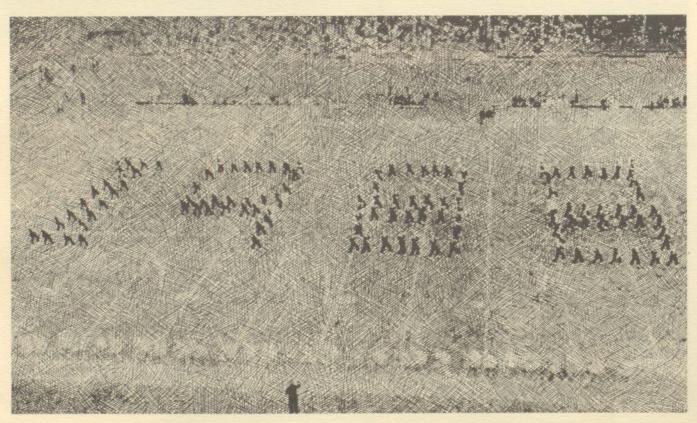

Lake's '71 gridiron team was known as "The Big Blue Machine" throughout the Calumet Region for its powerful performances. The Seniors' replica of the team won the second-place float honors at the Football Homecoming.

Audience of "Wait Until Dark" shrieked when Harry Roat Jr. (John Lesniewski) lunged from the bedroom.

LC's Marching Band formed 1988 while playing "Stripper" during their halftime show at a Detroit Lions football game.

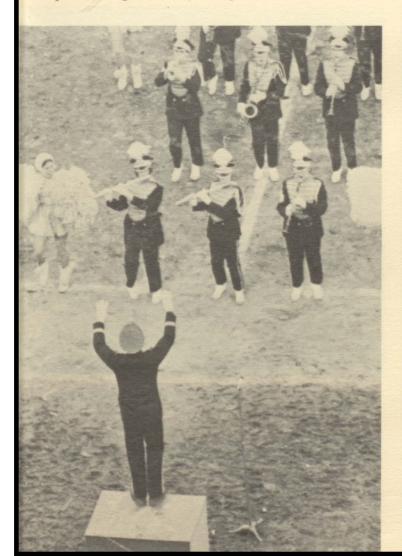

The band also played at a Chicago Bears game and an Indiana State University game.

The Marching Indians made their first appearance at a Chicago Bears game in December. The next week, the band travelled to Detroit to perform at a Lions and Packer football game. In addition to these nationally televised shows, the musicians and Centralettes marched in several parades during the year and at an Indiana State football game. Lake Central's Theatre Guild productions related the group's stage ability to other students and the community. The chilling drama "Wait Until Dark" was presented in the auditorium during November. Excellent character portrayal and realistic stage design drew viewers into the suspense of the play. Hours of memorization and practice were required for the polished, professional-like appearances these Centralites gave. Their determination and drive won applause from all their audiences. These band and theatre achievements will be remembered for the proud recognition they brought to LCHS.

Under the direction of Mr. Douglas Jordan, the Marching Indians once again won many honors and awards.

Centralites respond to local issues

Traces of love long ago, that didn't work out right. Traces of life...

Centralites become more aware of national issues. The war in Vietnam, eighteen-year-old vote, environmental crisis, drug abuse and crime drew the attention of students to Lake Central.

Pollution plagued the Calumet Region as industries and autos poured chemical wastes into the sky. Lake Michigan and its tributaries were menaced with refuse from bordering factories and cities. The Lake Central community mourned the slaying of St. John Marshal James Larimer and Indiana trooper John Streu. The officers were investigating a suspicious car at Kolling Elementary School when its inhabitants opened gunfire on them.

LCHS'ers earned $2300 for the Lake County Association for Retarded Children as 200 Centralites joined in the Walk for the Retarded. Each marcher signed sponsors who agreed to pay from ten cents to five dollars for each mile covered.

LC students saw the importance of problems in the world about them. Their concern and action added to memories of national and local events.

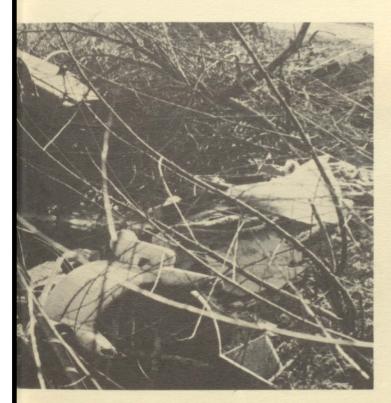

Instead of just discussing the pollution problem, LC's Science and Ecology Club initiated a pollution control program. An

St. John Town Marshal James Larimer was killed by two young car thieves, behind Kolling School.

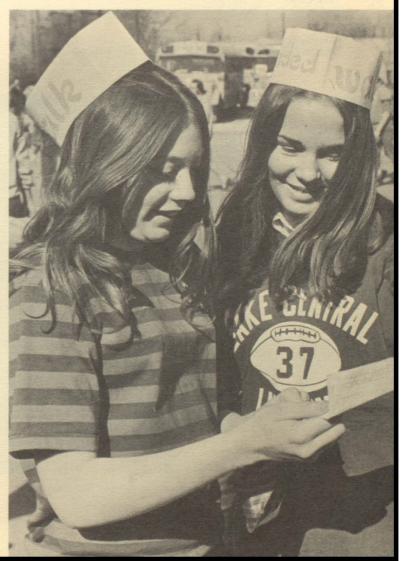

Protests swept across the Calumet Region as Lieutenant Calley was convicted of murdering innocent Mai Lai villagers in South Vietnam. Several Lake students signed a petition, asking President Nixon to pardon Calley.

attempt was made to correct unsightly dump sites in the community by these concerned students

Donna Creviston and Lisa Spragia, along with many other LCHS students, walked to raise funds for the retarded.

Impressions of a serene Autumn walk with Bill linger in Nedra Lancaster's mind. She and Bill Engle walked down the country lane rustling the leaves, talking together, sharing an unforgettable moment.

Greg Murzyn takes a large bite of pizza before Danny Weeks, or Kristen and Daphne Douglas have a chance.

LC students interpret today's love

Of holding hands and real bouquets, and twilights trimmed in purple haze, and laughtered nights and simple ways, and quiet nights and gentle ways with you.* What IS love? Centralites who pondered this question responded with the following statements: "Love is the fruit of life. Often we find it bitter, but oftener the fruit is sweet."

"Love is ecstacy when you receive a long-awaited letter or telephone call."

"Love is concern and understanding for another who always seems very near, no matter how many miles lie between you."

"Love is the one stupendous word in the universe."
"Love is the security of knowing there is always someone there to count on."

"Love is the bestest word in the whole world."
"Love is a sweet thing, but you can only hold it for a few moments."

"Love is like a red nose, it can't be hidden."
"Love is the real giving of yourself to others. It is caring, sharing and pure happiness."
Love brings something different to all who experience it—contentment, fulfillment and even disappointment. These emotions endure as memories.

Kim Hoffman and Rhona Justice danced to the soft music of "Oscar and the Majestics" at "A Midwinter's Dream."

Talking, smiling or just gazing into each other's eyes, Ken Lindemann and Sharon Guess express feelings meant only for each other. They experience emotions of love, anger, happiness and pain, as do other LCHS couples.

Lake experiences quiet revolution

Memories pressed between the pages of your mind. Memories sweetened through the ages just like wine.*

Changes evolved through the daily modification of classroom situations. Relaxed dress and grooming rules allowed Lake students self-expression and freedom in their personal appearance.

Classroom atmosphere was altered with different instructional techniques. Movies were viewed by English students in correlation with literature studies. A stock broker, UAW member and Inland Steel representative were guest speakers in Honor Economics. Theatre Arts classes practiced stage make-up and fencing in their advanced drama course.

Centralites displayed contemporary clothes and more traditional attire. Girls' skirt lengths fell from mini to maxi. Slacks were favored on blustering winter days and hot pants were sported on the LC spring fashion scene. Guys paired brighter shirts and vests with bold flared leg trousers. Burnished leather shoe boots were the chosen male footwear.

Small variances in the teaching methods and clothing styles added to the memories LCHS'ers would keep of the quiet revolution within Lake Central.

Inland Steel's Superintendent of Labor Relations LeRoy Mitchell addressed Mr. Paris' Honor Economics class.

Mr. Lowe's aide Cindy Cathey helps Tim Holleran practice the proper method of applying character make-up. Each Theatre Arts student must also learn to apply regular stage make-up and old-age make-up.

LC's various fashions are modeled by Linda Reder, Lu Ann Robinson, Jaci Kroupa and Penny Boyer. Hot pants, maxis, midis and slack outfits could be seen throughout the halls, as Centralites sought to be individuals.

Neck accessories were worn by both sexes, as shown by Kevin Tatro, Gail Bombersback and Ted Feledy.

that she received her treasured diploma, yet sad that she must leave Lake Central.

Grads achieve final goal at LCHS

Seniors Jack Webb and Debby Yablonowski talk over their remembrances from LC and their plans for the future.

I close my eyes and say a prayer, that in your heart you'll find a trace of love still there . . . Somewhere. As the weather grew warmer, Centralites became restless to escape books and the confinement of classrooms. The final school days were counted while part-time jobs, vactions and trips to the beach were anticipated for the summer months. Seniors felt the twinges of leaving throughout the year. Homecoming, semester finals, sectionals and the Prom reminded them that their time at Lake Central was quickly drawing to a close. Graduation ceremonies were conducted on May 27 in the Lake Central Fieldhouse. Mr. Charles Henry, Admissions Director at Purdue University was the guest speaker for Commencement '71. Seniors thought fondly of the past four years and hesitated to go, but they looked toward the future. Some wished they had been more involved in activities and others regretted their lack of study. Tassels turned and diplomas in hand, the Class of 1971 experienced the severing of last ties with Lake Central. Only the memories would live on.

Students are the lifeblood of LCHS. Without them, the classrooms are filled with a lonely, desolute emptiness.

Activities

Activities filled the extra-curricular time of many LCHS'ers. Floats, cars and hallways, had to be decorated for Homecoming. Tryouts and hours of set construction preceded Theatre Guild productions. Huge painted murals transformed the foyer and gym into a jungle for the carnival.

Centralites gathered in the fieldhouse to generate spirit for upcoming games, listen to the music of "The Dust", or participate in the Turkey Trot.

Lake students assembled to congratulate bandsmen for their NISBOVA victory, accept LC's first Sportsmanship Trophy and distribute athletic awards.

Dances varied from casual after game impromptus to Homecoming and the highlighted formal occasions of the winter formal, "A Mid-Winter's Dream" and the Junior-Senior Prom, "La Ville D'Amour."

Honor Day recognized those who excelled in particular courses or received scholarships and awards. Graduation turned the page for the Class of 1971 and marked the close of a memorable year.

Spirit prevails at Homecoming '70

Hard work, anticipation, tears, and joy spell out the atmosphere of 1970 Homecoming. School enthusiasm mounted as each "special day" during Spirit Week collected more participants. Thursday initiated the traditional week-end activities with a 27-unit parade. Sophomores captured first place with their theme, "LC Punches Out a Victory". Seniors placed second and juniors came in third. The Home Ec Club took first place in the decorated car contest with their Volkswagen mouse. Seniors expressed their class pride by taking first place in the annual N-teens Yell Contest. Due to the portable classrooms at Kahler, the traditional bonfire was quite unique this year as it blazed radiantly on the shore of the pond behind the football

LC's halls, packed with colorful signs, roared Friday morning as students gave added support to the mighty Indians with cheers and chants. Sophomores again came out on top as they took the Spirit Stick for their winning hall. A new award, the Tomahawk, was presented to the Senior Class for their overall spirit.

Battling with the Mustangs from Munster, the Big Blue Machine performed before one of the biggest crowds ever. Despite the roaring crowd and the deafening cheers coming from the pep block, Senior Brad Moore was the only LC player to produce a touchdown as the Indians fought to a 6-6 deadlock.

Climaxing the week's activities, students relaxed in the cafeteria while listening to the music of the "Dawn Wind". Coronation arrived and the 1970 royal couple were Seniors Bill Smith and Sharon Ladd.

Junior Jan Solner displays her enthusiasm by participating in one of the special days of Spirit Week, "Indian Day".

While the winning floats and king and queen candidates circled the field during halftime, the burlap-covered LCHS was ignited and blazed until the Indians moved back onto the field and action resumed.

One of the floats that caught everyone's eye during the homecoming parade was entered by the LC cafeteria cooks.

Marching Indians hit pigskin circuit

The marching Indians not only performed at every LC home football game, but also performed at various parades, college football games and professional football games as Many long hours of hard work and determination paid off as the LC band was invited to perform during halftime of two professional football games. December 13 proved to be the "big day", as the marching Indians entertained thousands of people at the Chicago Bears-Green Bay Packers game. One week later, and much colder, the band performed a pregame show and also marched during halftime of the Detroit Lions-Green Bay Packer game in Detroit.

Performing in front of thousands of people didn't bother the marching Indians, as they entertained fans at Terre Haute during the Indiana State-Butler game.

Another highlight of their marching season was the NIS-BOVA contest October 3. Again the LCHS band came out on top and captured the sweepstake award. Also during the year the band demonstrated routines and performed their award-winning show before packed bleachers. Sponsored by the Schererville Lions Club, this was a way of raising money for the band.

Battling the cold before performing during halftime of the Detroit Lions game are Glen LaMantia, Gary Kirk and Kevin Greene.

A part of their sweepstakes-winning show, The LCHS band forms a pulsating heart while playing "Maria," from West Side Story. The band has now won the highest award possible at the NISBOVA contest seven consecutive years.

Trying to convince blind Susy Hendrix (Senior Debe Yankey) to show him where the heroin-filled doll is by explaining that everyone is afraid of something, Harry Roat (Senior John Lesniewski) threatens to rid her of life.

Seniors John Lesniewski and Roger Hughes have appeared in all four of Lake Central Theatre Guild's musicals, while freshman Dolly Meenan portrayed Gloria in "Wait Until Dark", for her first acting role on the LC stage.

LC fall production, "Wait Until Dark"

Conversation silenced, lights dimmed, and the curtain slowly rose to unveil a dark, austere stage upon which two con men, Mike Talman (Roger Hughes) and Sargeant Carlino (Kim Richardson) were having a private discussion. Harry Roat (John Lesniewski) was the villain behind the plot to get control of a heroin-filled doll that had mistakenly fallen into the hands of a professional photographer, Sam Hendrix (Bob Horgash), and his blind wife, Susy (Debe Yankey). The three con men unmercifully took advantage of Susy's blindness to make her believe that her husband was involved with another woman in order to locate the doll. Gloria (Dolly Meenan) added her own special touch to the play as a ten-year-old brat.

The Thespian Society decided to do a serious drama, which they have not done since the production of "1984". Even though it was a deviation from the musicals and comedies, it was a fine representation of the contemporary scene, and enjoyed immensely by everyone.

An atmosphere of professionalism was evident from the opening line to the last curtain call, due to the many hours put into the production by Mr. and Mrs. Lowe, directors, and the entire Thespian Society.

"I'm blind, there's something burning, I can't see to locate it," cries Susy Hendrix (Debe Yankey).

"I knew they'd try to kill me the minute they got the doll," exclaimed Harry Roat (John Lesniewski) to Susy Hendrix.

N-Teens formal sets quiet mood

Every year each LC girl looks forward to the turn-about N-teens winter formal. This gives them a chance to ask the boy of their choice.

Usually the dance is held before Christmas, but this year due to other activities, it was held later. January 16 was the date, which found many girls with their hair done and their date's cars cleaned. The theme of the formal, "Mid-Winter's Dream" seemed to fit in beautifully as the snow fell lightly to the ground outside. As the couples entered the lower E-wing doors, they walked down the hall, checked their coats and crossed the bridge into a winter wonderland of snow. The foyer was filled with pine trees sprinkled with snow, covered just as if a Christmas snow had fallen.

Nominations for queen were made first by the entire club and then the cabinet picked the final candidates. Then, as the people entered the formal they indicated their choice by their tickets. Senior Lois Mican was crowned queen of the 1971 mid-winter formal.

After being crowned queen, Lois Mican and her date, Tom Ahlers, lead the other couples in a coronation dance.

Smiling radiantly after the announcement of the 1971 formal queen is senior Lois Mican and her court; juniors Jeanette

Hoffman and Rhona Justice, freshman Paula Sumner and senior Joan Davis. The sophomore candidate was Kathy Kelly.

Class spirit sparks BB homecoming

Painting signs, building floats on little red wagons, and yelling chants in the morning through the halls were all a part of the 1971 basketball homecoming.

The annual spirit stick for the best hall was awarded to the sophomores. During halftime of the game each class and various clubs drove their floats around the fieldhouse in hopes of winning the trophy. Competition was challenging, but again the sophomore class won.

The king and queen contest was held differently this year. There were three couples nominated from the senior class, and one from the other three classes. One of the senior couples were to become the king and queen, and the remaining candidates were to make up their court. This year seniors Dan Perez and Pam Boyer reigned over the festivities, while the other senior, junior, and sophomore candidates made up their court.

Class competition for the Spirit Stick lead to ultimate school spirit during homecoming as shown by senior Diane Graham.

Assemblies add change during year

Throughout the year many assemblies were held to entertain, enlighten, and inform students on various subjects. From the first assembly to welcome the freshmen until the final assembly to bid the seniors farewell, assemblies played a part of a student's life.

Two singing groups visited LC this year. "The Dust", sponsored by the SGA, related to problems of today to the students through music and their own personal experiences. The "Random Sample" was a Campus Life group that encouraged students to lead a better life.

Again, the Lettermen's Club sponsored the Turkey Trot where the seniors took all honors. The Student Government Association sponsored the Christmas Assembly highlighted by the German Club's Susie Snowflake skit, the SGA's Twelve Days of School, and of course, a visit from Santa Claus.

Charles King once again visited LC and captured the audience with heartwarming songs and spirituals. Just his casual attitude and his charisma charmed the student body.

Every month throughout football and basketball season there was a pep session to spark the student body and encourage them to attend the game that night. The cheerleaders would sometimes put on skits, or the coach would speak to the student body, but the eventual motive was to stimulate spirit throughout the school.

Susie Snowflake (Dave Sims) flashes a smile that captured the student body during the Christmas Assembly.

The Indiana State Boy's Glee Club visited Lake Central during an assembly just to entertain the students. Despite any forethoughts about boy's glee clubs, they were enjoyed by all. Here they throw off their sunglasses at the end of a song.

1971 Q&S Carnival draws record gate

Despite poor weather conditions, the 1971 Carnival was a success. With the unique theme of "Jungle Book", the Quill and Scroll members decorated the fieldhouse with ten foot paper elephants, tigers, and lions.

Every year the Journalism Department gives the rest of the school's clubs a chance to earn some money. Eighteen different booths spotted the fieldhouse, while other entertainment included the pie-eating contest. Sophomore Glen Brown won, earning himself and his class five dollars each.

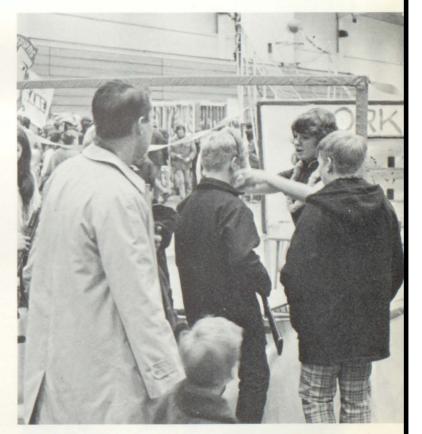

The Sophomore Class sponsored a mud slide, where many people saw Mr. Fenters take a head first slide into a 150 gallon barrel of wet mud. Another booth, the baseball throw, supplied many students with stuffed animals, while the fish pond was an easy prize for the little ones.

A dance, also sponsored by the Quill and Scroll, followed the carnival. Featuring "The Listen", the dance was highlighted by the coronation of the king and queen, seniors Dave Sims and Mitzi Norris.

Preparing for the Pep Club booth by blowing up balloons is senior Shirley Gilliam and junior Kim Hoffman.

mary Pilkington; senior Donna Peters, Hedy LaRue; and sophomore Tim Holleran as Bud Frump.

Checking lines and following the script are just a few of the many duties of Director Paul Lowe.

Horgash, Lancaster take lead roles

"Let us no more be true to boasted race or clan, but to our highest dream—the Brotherhood of Man." Every night during rehearsal during the 14 weeks of practice the cast and crew of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" grew into a brotherhood.

The closeness of the 170-member cast was evident when all six of the scheduled performances were sold out. Hard work, talent and dedication came easy because each member of the cast wanted it to be a "professional" play. To add to the spirit of the cast, they had special days where each member of the cast would dress differently than the rest of the school, to set them apart and bring them closer to one another. They had a farmer day, grub day, and dress-up day. The cast also wore signs bearing WWW on them, and the motto of each performance day was, "A day without a wicket is a day without sunshine."

Undertaking the tremendous task of directing this famous broadway hit was senior Adele Burt and Paul and Angie Lowe. Doug Jordan and his pit band once again provided the music, while Karon Bailey arranged the choreography. Two other very important people to the cast were Mike Lewis and Ed Foley who helped instruct chorus.

Finch (Bob Horgash) and Miss Jones (Trudy Morris) talk idly about nothing in front of WWW's elevators.

"I believe in you", Rosemary Pilkington (Nedra Lancaster) sings convincingly to J.P. Finch (Bob Horgash).

J.B. Biggley (Roger Hughes) shows his disapproval at Finch's idea of using Hedy LaRue as the WWW Treasure Girl.

Enjoying an evening of conversation and laughter are Rick Laird, Jill Wilkerson, Dale Swartz and Chris Rich.

Looking over the prom refreshments and deciding what to have to eat is Chris Teibel and her escort Dale Keilman.

Hunting for goldfish in the pond are Suzanne Girman and Rick Ferguson; watching are Bonnie Dewes and Bob Herrman.

Fieldhouse set in La Ville d'Amour

A sidewalk cafe, a flowing water fountain, and a 12-foot Arc of Triumph all blended to set the atmosphere for the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom, La Ville d'Amour.

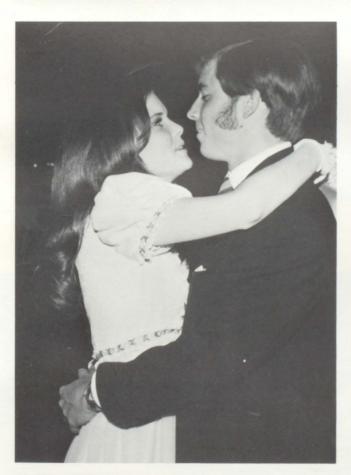

White trellises and the flower garden greeted the guests as they arrived. As the couples walked through the now-hidden fieldhouse doors they found themselves walking down a typical street in Paris, the City of Love. Store fronts from candy stores, clothing stores, and a hotel dotted the fieldhouse in a romantic setting.

As the evening wore on and all the work that was put into prom in the three months preceding faded into the past, the couples danced to the music of The Continentals. The night was climaxed with the crowning of prom king and queen seniors Brad Moore and Debe Sidwell, and prince and princess juniors John Burt and Dana Meenan.

Post Prom was held at the Red Lion Restaurant in Steger, with the group "In the Beginning" providing the music.

Crowned king and queen were Brad Moore and Debe Sidwell. Chosen as prince and princess were John Burt and Dana Meenan.

Thoughtfully gazing at each other, enveloped in the dreamy atmosphere of prom, are Debe Yankey and Jeff Marlow.

Sophomore Debbie Curtis serves punch to Dan Dennison, Rick Childress, Rick Nigh, and Bill Smith.

Diane Graham was named National Merit Finalist while also being named the Girl Most Likely to Succeed.

Leslie Luchene was ranked in the top 25 in Indiana on her test for the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest.

During the Annual Honors Assembly, Mark Schnaith receives his salutatorian trophy from Mr. Jones.

Honors bestowed upon Centralites

One day each year is set aside to honor the seniors and underclassmen for excelling in academic achievement, leadership, or character.

A new award this year, the American Legion most outstanding students, was given to Bill Engle and Patti Blaize. The Danforth "I Dare You" award was presented to Steve Solan and Veneta Jackson. Outstanding Teenagers of America were Diane Graham, Patti Blaize, Dave Sims and Nedra Lancaster. Nedra and Bill Engle were also named best all-around boy and girl. Deb Janda was named one of the top 16 journalists in Indiana. Roger Hughes, President of the Thespian Society, was named the top thespian in the state, and came in second in the contest between seven other states.

One of our salutatorians was given a letter of commendation from the National Merit. Dave Sims was named as the boy Most Likely to Succeed, and Patti Blaize received the Principal's Most Valuable Student award.

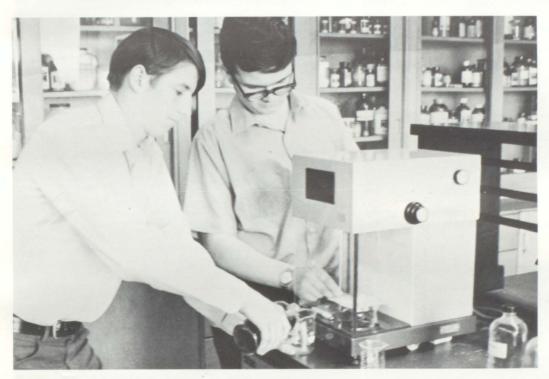

Based on service, scholarship, and leadership, Nedra Lancaster was chosen as the recipient of the DAR award.

Scholastically leading the class of 1971 were Valedictorians Diane Graham, Bill Engle, and Marguerite Gerka with an index of 4.1. Salutatorians were Mark Schnaith and Kathy Winicki, both having a perfect 4.0 for their four years at LC.

Being the best in the field of science, Mark Schnaith and Kevin Richardson got the Baush and Lomb award.

Chosen as Girl's State and Boy's State delegates were Kathy Winicki, David Sims, Patti Blaize, Nedra Lancaster and Bill Engle.

Class of 1971 graduates 327 students

The class flower being the rose, each girl received one as she graduated. Joyce Steele and Ginger Nitz displayed theirs.

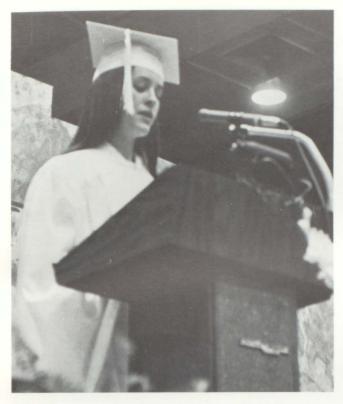

With a smile on her face and the climax of twelve years at her fingertips, graduate Peggy Burton receives her diploma.

Laughing in the hallways, crying at homecoming, cheering teams to victory-all are memories to be treasured as the wheels of time turn and another class graduates. It was the last time for some to see friends with whom they went to games, dances and parties. After 12 years of work, young men and women received their diplomas, some with tears of sadness; some with tears of joy. But everyone was present, and everyone went through the same serious ceremony and THEY were together.

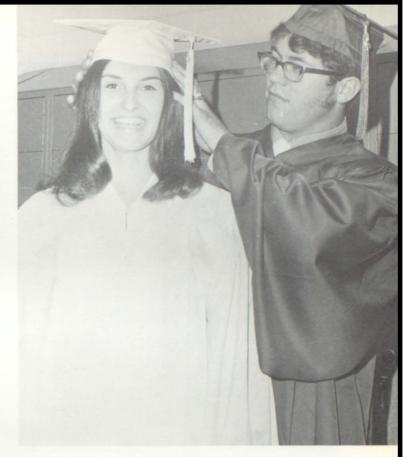

Commencement exercises went flawless, except when the microphone quit for a second. That second was long enough for each senior to recall special memories during their four years at LCHS. The guest speaker was Charles Henry, Director of Admissions at Purdue University in Lafayette. He spoke confidently of goals and aspirations. Their questioning minds were ready to become individuals in a boundless society, ready to face its problems. Each '71 graduate realized that night they had only just begun . . . to live.

Overwhelmed by the thought of graduation, Ken Jostes decides to express his true emotions to his classmate Ted

Education

Educational experiences were expanded to cope with the demands of modern curriculum. Lectures, textbooks and discussions were supplemented with movies, TV, records, filmstrips and tapes. Students became more familiar with library resources as teachers assigned research projects. Magazines, pamphlets, newspapers and books were scanned for accurate and up-to-date information. Centralites drew information from outside the classroom. French students went to Chicago to see a play read in the third year course, "The Little Prince." Advanced science and math students travelled to the Cook Nuclear Power Plant in Michigan. Office machine classes observed secretarial duties in area businesses. Vocational carpenters constructed miniature barn storage sheds. Learning resulted by attaining knowledge from every available aspect in and beyond the classroom. Formulas, equations and facts were retained with memories of varied educational activities.

New middle school plans underway

MR. BERNIE JOSTES, was elected president of the Lake Central School Board following the untimely death of Dr. Blaney.

Right—MR. WILLIAM GRAHAM and MRS. JOYCE ELLIS became quite involved with school board work as plans were made for a new middle school and a building addition to the high school.

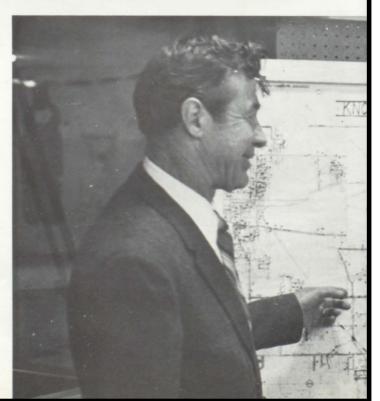

MR. HARRY HOWARTH and MR. IRVING SCHUBERT were active members of the board and also found time to participate in several community improvement organizations.

Trying to meet the everyday problems of overcrowding, approving purchases, and employing new personnel, the Lake Central school board met every other Monday. The five member board headed by Mr. Bernie Jostes, recognized as its major concern, the building of a new middle school to accommodate the overcrowding of students at the present Kahler building.

Plans were also made to provide a satellite hot lunch program for the elementary schools throughout the school system. This program took effect in early March, with preparations in the main kitchen at the high school and then transporting the food to the other schools.

Lake Central schools and community were stunned by the sudden death of school board president Dr. Richard C. Blaney on October 19, 1970. Dr. Blaney proposed the use of mobile classrooms at the Kahler school and the building of a new middle school.

Board President Jostes and Superintendent Bibich kept a close watch on cutting transportation costs for the corporation.

MR. DON GUILFORD, MR. JAMES WATSON, AND MR. GEORGE BIBICH coordinate all corporation administrative duties of a complex school system.

Superintendent George Bibich found it necessary to incorporate an austerity program as school budgets were cut all over the state.

Assistant Superintendent Don Guilford worked closely with high school teachers as a new health education curriculum was adopted.

Mr. Kerns instructs Phyl Fanolla on typing football bus schedule times to be read on the daily announcements.

MR. FRED JONES, LC Principal; MR. GLEN EBERLY, assistant principal and sponsor of Student Government.

Administration

Preparing to aid each student with any problem, Principal Fred Jones, and Assistant Principal Glen Eberly greet students every morning in the general office to discuss such items as daily attendance problems, book sale bills, disciplinary actions, and correcting of class schedules. Being the center of the high school, the general office guides LC in all aspects. Many decisions are made each day concerning the high school, extra-curricular activities, and the community. With new challenges being presented everyday, each new situation is met practically with the thoughts and consideration of the student kept in mind.

As a general office aide, Shirley DeMik answers the telephone, one of the many small tasks which are performed each day.

LC scholars frequent resource center

The library provided the most current and up-to-date materials to meet the needs of each individual student. Pamphlets, filmstrips, records, magazines and books all offered information for any academic subjects and personal interests.

Both students and faculty were seen frequently visiting the LC library, whether it be for classroom studies, information for personal enjoyment or just for a few moments of relaxation from a busy day.

Always available to assist all students were head librarian Miss Kathy Arbuckle and assistant librarian Mrs. Joan Osborn.

Mrs. Osborn instructs a freshman English class on the supplies and resources available for their use in the Lake Central library.

Counselors plan student's future

Ready to meet the personal and academic needs of each student, the Lake Central counselors assist students throughout their high school years.

Counselors met with each student as they planned their academic schedules and made plans for their future, whether the choice was vocational or educational.

With various fields being opened to all students, the LC counselors met with all incoming freshmen. The student, with his counselor's assistance decided which course he would follow throughout his high school years, leading to a future career after graduation.

As each year progressed every student became more aware of the problems and decisions which would confront him when his final year would come to a close. Through the help of his counselors the student will be prepared both academically and mentally for the problems ahead. The counselors aid each student in facing maturity which will gradually come to him during high school and after.

LC guidance counselor Mrs. Stecyk double checks for any errors made by the computer in next year's class scheduling.

WCAE presents 'Turned on Crisis'

Beginning the fourth full year of operation, WCAE entertained Calumet area residents with current up-to-date activities throughout the area. WCAE provided the area with shows such as Sesame Street, a favorite among children, and many high school area sports telecasts including basketball, football and wrestling. WCAE also participated with the National Information series of programs to inform the youth of the nation on the dangers of drug abuse with the Turned on Crisis. The weekly show, Viewpoint, a student production, began its third season with host Dave Sims and director Bob Voss, featuring timely programs of public interest.

TOP—MR. HARRY GARBA, chief engineer; MR. LOU IACONETTI, station manager; MRS. VENA PERRINGS, TV secretary; MR. TED LUCAS, programming director; MR. JOHN HOPKINS, TV tech and audio-visual coordinator: MR. ROBERT BELL, operations engineer.

The annual WCAE auction was in early November with profits totaling more than $20,000. The auction, which involved the entire community, included such major items as a camper trailer, TV sets, radios, a remote control lawnmower and a snowmobile. Serving as guest hostess was Playboy bunny Kim Farber, who was on hand to auction off one of Hugh Hefner's pipes. Plans are now underway for a television transmitter to be moved to Whiting, Indiana so WCAE can provide more complete viewing in our area, as well as in all of Northwest Indiana.

Guest speaker, Harry Volkman, NBC weatherman, appears on an ecology special which was produced by Phil Lamb.

WCAE auctioneers Les Milby and Bill Cooke begin the bidding on a few of the items being offered at the Channel 50 auction.

News Bureau TV Editor Cheryl Weber arranges schedule times for interviews and features for the Calumet Area High School News.

After making a final check to be sure that all of the monitors are ready in the control room, Brad Moore and Larry Anderson begin to tape another showing of "Viewpoint" in the main studio, which will be shown on the following night.

Secretaries aid faculty and students

PURDY, High

Treasurer; MRS. MROZ, General

MARIE WEIN. Office Secretary.

High School treasurer, MRS. BARBARA PURDY is assisted by office aide Madonna Hoernig as she organizes bills and receipts.

Administrative secretaries play a very important role in the everyday life of Lake Central, Mrs. Wein, Mrs. Purdy, and Mrs. Mroz help to keep the general office running in a smooth orderly fashion. They are available to answer students' questions and aid them in any situation which arises. They also type numerous business letters and school bulletins for the administration.

As treasurer, Mrs. Purdy keeps accounts for all the classes, clubs, and academic departments at LC. Mrs. Wein is secretary to Mr. Jones and Mr. Eberly and can also be seen doing various odd jobs. Other duties of the secretaries are to type attendance sheets and keep the permanent record cards of each student accurate and up-to-date on the activities of the LC student.

LC students practice communicating

Trying to keep up with the ever changing world of communications, students challenged their abilities in both the writing and speaking fields.

Junior Journalism students practiced interesting, up-todate reporting and interviewing as they learned the basic fundamentals in the world of journalistic writing. The students were also introduced to successful ways of creating a yearbook and new trends in experimental stages at other schools.

Developing character and overcoming fright in public speaking are only two of the many practices students strive to conquer in speech and theater arts classes. Always an hour of interest and enjoyment, students practiced their skills in debate, public speaking and group discussion hoping to be prepared for the future world of communications.

Underclassmen improve grammar

Learning the correct ways of grammar usage, types of sentences, and correct sentence structures, freshmen and sophomore English students strive to improve speaking and writing skills necessary in our world today.

Striving to bridge the gap of early authors and our world today, students wrote interpretations and voiced opinions on the philosophies and writings of such early authors as William Shakespeare. Freshman English classes, as in previous years, read "Romeo and Juliet". They discovered how this young couple many years ago faced the problems which confront teenagers today.

Sophomore students read various types of novels covering such topics as Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" to Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" and Lee's "To Kill a Mockingbird."

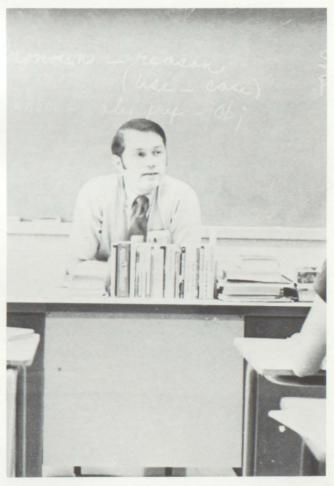

Students compared the writing of various authors; how they were related and how they differed. Students also enjoyed the different types of prose and poetry which writers over the centuries have used to express their philosophies on life and their predictions of the future in worlds after.

LC seniors view 'Cool Hand Luke'

Helping each student develop his talents in English is only one part of the English curriculum Lake Central offers. Students learn to expound their talents in creative writing as they worked on personal, persuasive and critical essays.

Junior and senior English classes viewed movies dealing with society and life in today's world. "Cool Hand Luke" was a highlight in the senior English study of man in conflict. Junior English classes saw "Lord Jim," "East of Eden" and "Cimarron" each dealing with the plight of man hiding his past from society. Juniors read works of many authors: John Steinbecks' "East of Eden," and Nathaliel Hawthornes' "Scarlet Letter." Each student expressed his interpretation of the book through an essay test.

Senior English read works of several contemporary authors. "A Separate Peace" by John Knowles, "1984" and "Animal Farm" by George Orwell and "Love Story" by Erich Segal were included in the novel study. Characters from the plays "Androcles and the Lion" and "Macbeth" were portrayed by senior English students to become more familiar with the theme of the play.

Science classes travel to power plant

Mr. Perry uses the overhead projector to further explain the stages of cell division to BSCS biology students.

The wonders of science were met with enjoyment and curiousity as LC students found interest in all aspects of science in our world today.

LC also welcomed three new teachers to the science department this year. Miss Lynda Espey, Miss Juanita Nitch and Mr. Larry Eyre. Each of the three taught Life Science and Introduction to Physical Science (IPS).

Students also experienced great interest as the BSCS classes performed dissections. They ranged from worms and crayfish to a study of cat anatomy.

Offered as a new course this year was Advanced Biology which was taught by Mr. Paul Mehling. This class studied frog reproduction and also the breeding of plants. This class and LC Physics students took a field trip in early May to the Cook Nuclear Power Plant in Benton Harbor, Michigan.

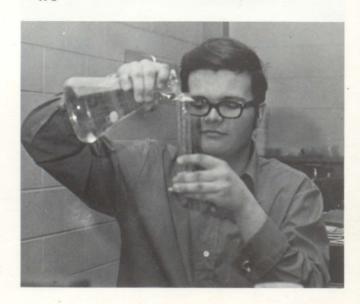

Meanwhile the Chemistry classes, both Practical and Advanced Chemistry kept busy with numerous scientific experiments which were performed. The most advanced of all science classes offered at LC was Physics which provided challenge and interest to the students enrolled in this class.

Calculus included as semester class

Puzzling postulates and theorums are only a few of the basics which students must learn in mathematics in both school life and for use in the world about them.

Algebra students learned to understand and make use of the numbers and letters which are necessary to complete daily homework assignments in this course. Geometry students labored over the construction of 45 degree angles and the solving of baffling proofs.

Algebra II and Advanced Math also take LC students into a world of numbers and letters which can be interpreted in many different ways depending on how the symbols are presented in the specific problem.

Computer technology was again offered and was in great demand by an increasing amount of Lake Central students. It has become a popular new course that offered both challenge and change in the LC Mathematics Department.

Calculus was also offered this year as a full semester course for the first time. Many LC seniors delighted in the challenges this course set before them.

Freshman Math offered a challenge to Jeff Jernberg until Mr. Bernthal pointed out his error.

Geometry included a thorough study of mathematical proofs, graphing and the construction of angles and triangles.

Geometry students employ rulers and compasses to construct angles by using straight lines and arcs.

Kathy Nagy, Renee LaMantia, Patsy Beeler, Judy Gallett, Jane Montgomery and Lynn Weber master the use of the circle compass.

Classes speak on ways of society

Society with its advantages and problems has become a great interest to many students around the world, including Centralites. Each course offered under the Social Studies curriculum discussed the problems and history making events in our world today, which will effect the lives of students tomorrow and in future years.

The United States History classes once again used the paperback booklets which deal with events leading to present world problems. These included religion, race, population, pollution, labor relations and many other topics.

Sociology and psycology classes discussed the place of man in today's society. Each student was able to express his inner thoughts and feelings on every topic.

Government and Economics classes both dealt with current topics. Governmental systems of both present and past times were studied while economics students learned of the stock market, banking and other universal economic systems in the world.

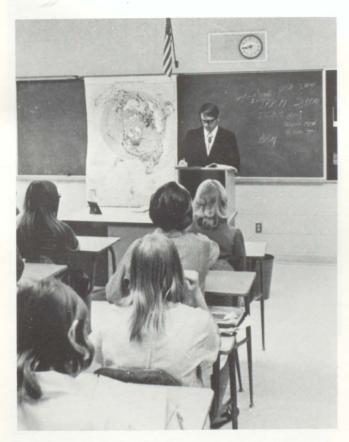

Each class discussed the world and its problems with the hopes of giving each other a better and clearer understanding of the world today.

Mr. Fenters reminds his U.S. History class that most Centralites stem from a European heritage.

A new addition to the Social Studies Department, Mr. Pollen joined the U.S. History team of Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Fenters and Mr. Paris.

Students study Fine Art techniques

After weeks of shaping, painting and baking, Joyce Wilson carefully applies the last coat of finish to her pottery project.

Mrs. Smith and Mr. Hopkins presented various aspects of art ranging from still life to lettering, sculpture and advertising to their classes.

Art I covered many areas of art, Mobiles, abstracts, charcoal, perspective and color experiments were a few of the topics covered in this novice art class. Crafts included projects concerning copper, enamel, ceramics, wire sculpture and wheel thrown pottery. Courses in advertising and Fine Arts were offered as more detailed subjects for the advanced art students.

The thorough studies offered in the Art Department allowed Centralites to learn the fundamentals and also to gain insight into the technical concepts of art that are needed for professional work in this area.

Choral Dept. purchases new piano

When it comes to music, Lake Central can provide superb entertainment in both vocal and instrumental fields.

Choral arrangements were sung by both an all girl choir and a mixed choir at two concerts during the year; under the direction of Mr. Mike Lewis. The regional NISBOVA solo and ensemble contest was held at Gary West Side High School with four LC contestants placing first, and the remaining six placing second. The Choral Dept. also purchased a baby grand piano this year through the profits of their annual candy sale.

West Side Story was the musical theme used by the Lake Central band this year. Taking another NISBOVA win for their seventh consecutive, the band also performed at two professional football games, and an Indiana State University football game in Terre Haute.

Completely absorbed in the music being played, Junior Glen LaMantia strives for perfection on the trombone.

Vocational practices acquired at LC

Through specified vocational training, boys are learning a special trade in classes such as metal and machine shop, drafting, woodworking, and graphic arts. These classes prepare each student with the latest and most complete ecucation possible in his chosen field. The students in advanced carpentry this year gained much knowledge by performing the complete job of constructing a two-car garage. While students in Auto Shops gained helpful experience in all types of auto mechanics, the graphic students performed many useful printing services for Lake Central under the direction of new graphics instructor, Mr. Robert Engerski. These included such items as helping to promote school spirit by printing up small slogan signs to be worn on the days of athletic games and the printing of tickets for the Thespian.

Beginning students in carpentry built such items as tables, bookcases, and night stands for a relative or for their own use. Through the learning of skilled techniques and much practice, the Lake Central graduate can apply his knowledge for a successful future job.

Business students prepare vocations

Typing with speed and accuracy, once accomplished, served as the basics in the LC business department, which along with other skills, prepared many students for a future career in the business field.

Students, through the department, were able to acquire skills in all fields of business. Learning the functions of banks and money along with efficient purchasing and use of business books were taught in Introduction to Business.

Bookkeeping acquainted students with the accurate work necessary in order to master a successful business career. Business Law and Sales were two courses available, instructing students about the practices and principles of selling in common business transactions.

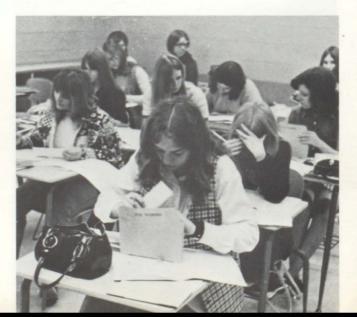

By taking these preliminary courses, Senior girls could take the three hour secretarial lab course, which improved their speed and accuracy in shorthand, dictation, and typing. At the same time, each gained practical experience in efficiently running a business office.

Oral drills, lessons in vocabulary, and the learning of verb idioms are a few of the first practices which are learned in the first and second year of each foreign language.

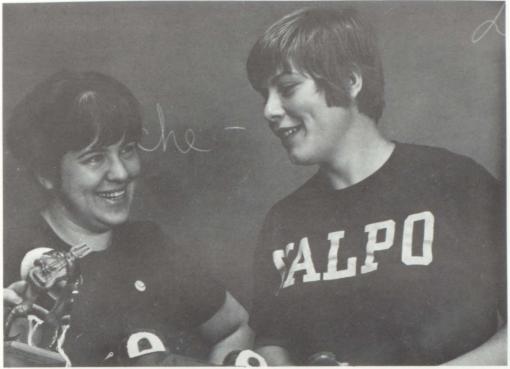

French students in the third and fourth years read the book Le Petit Prince and then traveled to Chicago to see the play of the same name.

Spanish students once again took their annual trip to Mexico during spring vacation. Thirteen students spent seven days viewing Mexico and studying its culture.

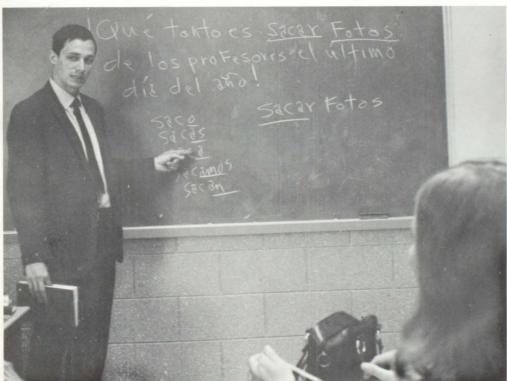

Third year German students wrote German dialogue, while fourth year students translated such literature as Bahn Warterthat and read the German version of William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet". They presented their version of "Swan Lake" at the Christmas assembly.

Concentrating on watching the ball and trying to anticipate the opposing teams next move, a freshman enjoys a whiffleball game.

Every hour of each day the Lake Central fieldhouse could be seen as a center of activity. The boys physical education classes occupied the lower gym and the girls were kept busy performing various athletic activities in the upper gym of Lake's fieldhouse.

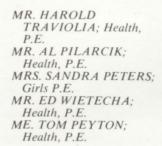

Rope climbing was a task overcome by many of the boys as they climbed upward to reach their goal. The boys also enjoyed many games of volleyball and basketball as many hours were spent improving skills in LC's PE classes.

Meanwhile girl's gym classes undertook the conquering of many skills which were never before considered. They participated in various sports such as field hockey, soccer and gymnastics along with basketball and volleyball. Each student gained athletic skills and greater coordination as the year progressed.

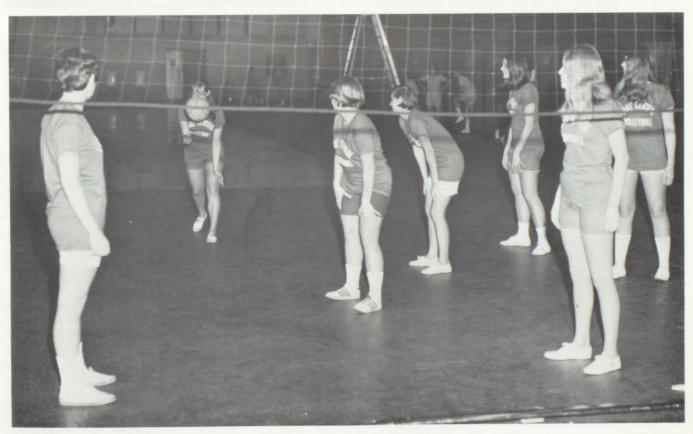

Testing for the Presidents All-American Physical Fitness Award a freshman boys P.E. class does a series of jumping jacks to test their coordination and reflexes.

The advanced girls physical education class awaits Nancy Farmer's serve so they can begin a fresh game. While freshman P.E. students study only the basic sports, the advanced classes study the technical rules of the major sports.

Sophomore Paula Barehead puts finishing touches on the jacket she completed in sewing class.

LC girls improve

Tailoring suits, making coats and designing formals are a few of the talents girls in sewing classes learned to develop throughout the school year. Also, many of the tasks of becoming a successful homemaker in tomorrow's world were practiced by the many girls attending home economic classes. These classes ranged from Sewing and Foods I to Family Living and Home Management. Students in Sewing I, sewing for the first time, made jumpers, blouses, and skirts. Girls in Sewing II completed a fully lined suit with either a skirt or slacks and also made a formal.

Working to complete their class projects in Sewing II are Bonnie Dewes, Donna Donaldson and Pauline Lowry. The Freshman Marilyn Estop waits patiently as a new recipe which she is experimenting with begins to cook.

Home Ec skills

Girls in Home Management classes designed a complete lay-out of a house, planned family menus using a weekly budget and then shopping for the items needed. Family Living classes presented the girls with the situations and problems which are faced when raising a family.

Whether planning a career in Home Economics or practicing to become a successful homemaker, girls delighted in the ways of gourmet cooking and the art of childcare hoping to insure the best possible background for their lives after high school.

girls are each responsible for completing a well-tailored suit and also a project which is of their own choosing.

Sophomore Peggy Slawson busily studies her instruction sheet before she begins working on her new project.

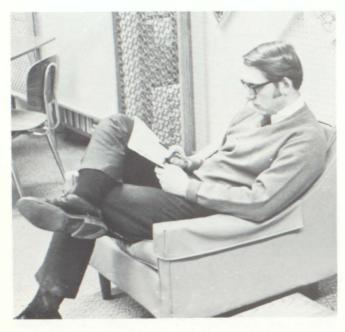

After completing their first cooking lab, Foods I girls discuss the steps necessary in preparing a breakfast.

Waiting anxiously to see the final results of their cooking efforts are Foods I girls, Mary Hill and Marilyn Estop.

Satellite hot lunch program begins

Under the direction of head cook Mrs. Adeline Lewkowski, a staff of nine women arrive early each day to prepare lunches for an average of 700 LC students. Baking bread, serving lunches, and planning menus are but a few of the many tasks undertaken everyday by these women.

Beginning in early March the LC cooking staff was also responsibile for the planning and preparing of lunches for children in the school system's three elementary schools. Nearly 800 elementary students were able to receive the benefits of LC's first satellite hot lunch program.

Never sure of what type of weather to expect inside the high school, students for the first time became aware of problems such as overheating, frozen pipe lines and air conditioning in December.

Mr. Mike Cinko with his staff of eight custodians were waiting daily to meet the problems which might arise. The student body sees these people everyday but very few fully realize their importance until a major problem is introduced and must be conquered.

Organizations

Organizations allowed students to participate in groups according to their diversified interests. Service, music, creative arts, environment, spirit, foreign languages, recreation and future professions were concerns that attracted Centralites to unite in various clubs at LCHS.

Each group endeavored to be beneficial to the community and Lake Central. Science and Ecology members cleaned the school grounds. Pep and Letterman's Club sold suckers to help finance football field lights. Chorus held a candy sale to purchase a new piano. Profits from selling stationery were awarded to a college bound French Club member. Organizations visited outside LC to gain insight into related areas. FTA toured facilities at St. Joseph College in Rensselaer and MPC observed Medical Professions Day at Valparaiso University. Spanish Club participants traveled in Mexico. Organizations provided LCHS'ers with special groups to join and memories of club involvement.

New Student Government Association

Patti Blaize, president of the SGA looks over bills being considered for discussion at the next meeting.

"This meeting will now come to order." This was the familiar sound coming from the auditorium and library every other Wednesday night. It was the open meetings of the House of Representatives and the Senate, the newly organized Student Government Association.

Re-organizing themselves from the 32-member Student Council to the 72-member SGA (House-44; Senate-32) was their major task. Under the idea of changing into a more governmental organization, the SGA used strict parliamentary procedure and ran itself much like that of America's bicameral legislature. Trying to keep in close contact with the students, the SGA went on homeroom TV often, and the president wrote a bi-weekly column in the newspaper describing their activities, and the bills that were being discussed.

The SGA sponsored all assemblies, Basketball Homecoming, Football Homecoming Parade, Christmas Hall Contest, and the Toy Drive. This year they provided the student body with a juke box. They also sponsored a student exchange program where students from LC visited another school for a day, and students from that school came to Lake Central to visit in order to trade ideas. This year the program included students from Hammond Morton, Griffith, Lowell, and Munster.

Dave Sims, chairman of the Senate, approaches the Senate members with the possibility of placing benches in the educational hall and foyer. The Senate tried to draw away from student apathy and tried to involve more students in more activities.

Making it seven in a row at NISBOVA, the marching Indians again finished a successful year under the direction of Mr.

Douglas Jordan. Many hours of practice that were needed began even before school started in August.

Seventh straight becomes a reality

After many weeks of hard work and practice, the Lake Central Marching Band was once again rewarded for their efforts with the Northern Indiana State Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association Sweepstakes award for the seventh consecutive year. The contest, which took place in Elkhart, Indiana, climaxed when it was announced "the winner of the 1970 Sweepstakes Award again is Lake Central."

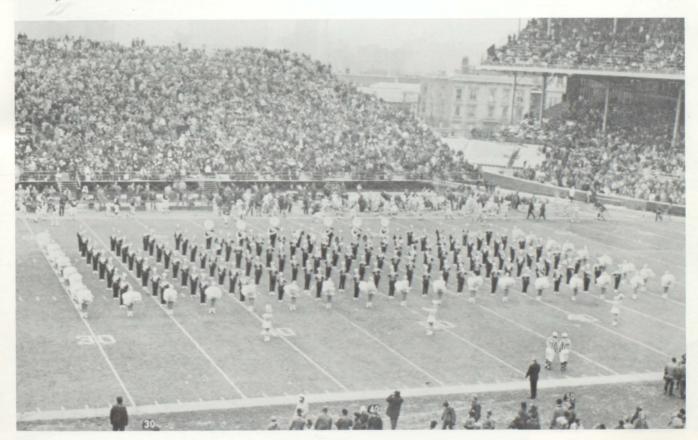

The show this year concerned solving the problems of today's world with the music from "West Side Story." The band's first idea was to begin solving any troubles "Tonight." Then, with the break music, "Something's Coming," the band went into a block formation, telling everyone to keep "Cool." Loving everyone like Tony loved "Maria," their next number done in a heart formation, was proposed as an ultimate solution. With these ideas, the band said everyone should be happy in "H'America."

Their winning show was again created by Director Douglas Jordan. For the first time, he had the band use mutes on the marching field. Another first was a woodwind chorus on the march, used in "Cool." This year, Mr. Mike Lewis, chorus director, did the announcing for all of the band performances, including the NISBOVA show.

The band also performed for Indiana State University, the Detroit Lions, and the Chicago Bears, extending their marching season until Christmas vacation.

Band president, Chris Teibel, practices a few scales on her oboe in preparation for an upcoming concert.

Performing before thousands of people gives a band member a feeling that cannot be described, only experienced. Here the marching band performs for the Chicago Bears' fans with a popular jazz number, "Coming Home Baby."

New fashions enhance Centralettes

Sue Homner and Joan Hilbrich make a final check to be sure all of the boot tassels are turned in after the Detroit show.

Putting the finishing touch on each marching band performance, the Centralettes once again showed that long hours of work do get results. Totaling forty-five girls, the majorette corps added color and brilliance to every performance, showing perfection and refined showmanship.

During this past year, the majorettes enlarged their wardrobe to include a white summer uniform used in the Independence Day parade and for their performances at many home basketball games. Another addition was a white maxi vinyl cape for the winter performances at two pro football games in Chicago and Detroit. Knit "bunny" hats, replacing the fur earmuffs worn in the past, kept them warm for those December engagements.

Even after the marching season was officially over and the band had turned to concert music, these girls could still be seen after school practicing for the halftimes of home basketball games. Head majorette Sue Homner and her assistant, Joan Hilbrich, combined their talents to create the winning pom-pom routines in all shows.

Under the direction of head majorette Sue Homner and sponsor, Mrs. Karon Bailey, the Centralettes once again demonstrated their winning style for contest judges, television audiences, and even local basketball enthusiasts.

Director breathes life into chorus

With the arrival of a new director came many changes in the Chorus Department. Beginning with one class consisting of 65 girls and four boys, Mr. Mike Lewis divided the choir, forming a girls' choir and a mixed choir. Auditions plus director approval were instituted as admission requirements for the newly organized choirs.

Three members of the chorus were rewarded superior ratings at the NISBOVA Solo and Ensemble contest in February. In a trio, Vernice Kearschner, Veneta Jackson, and Ila Cooper went to state contest in Indianapolis, again taking first place. Ila Cooper sang a solo at state, bringing back another first place medal.

During the year a candy sale was conducted by the chorus members as their yearly money making project. Profits reaped from this successful project helped pay for a new addition to the chorus, a baby grand piano.

The two choirs entertained students at the Christmas assembly and at two concerts, proving that the department offered music for everyone. At the spring concert, the last major event of the year, the program featured every kind of song from a classical number like the "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel, to a number popularized by a recent movie such as "A Time for Us" from Romeo and Juliet.

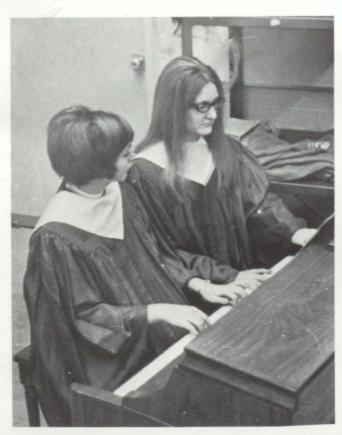

The girls' chorus spent many second hours practicing and improving numbers for their Spring Concert presented on April 22. With the help of Mr. Lewis, they created a new image and showed students what a chorus could really sound

Numbering 27 girls and 13 boys, the mixed choir worked daily to improve their tone quality and create a better balance between each part. All their work was rewarded at their Christmas concert, presented to a capacity crowd.

Chorus accompanists, Veneta Jackson and Ila Cooper, run through a new song to familiarize the chorus with each part.

Mr. Lewis gives the sopranos a cue to make sure their entrance will be together and on the beat.

GAA, Chess Club strive for victory

Competition was an essential part of some organizations at Lake Central. The Chess Club and the Girls' Athletic Association were two such clubs. The Chess Club stressed mental competition, while the Girls' Athletic Association emphasized physical competition.

The GAA consisted of LC girls who were interested in participating in such sports as volleyball, basketball and track. During the season, the club competed against other Girls' Athletic Associations from neighboring schools. Top teams in the area would then compete in sectional contests, then regionals, and finally state. This year, the GAA traveled to state competition in volleyball, and four girls competed in track state finals.

Members of the Chess Club met daily in Mr. Linger's room to discuss moves, strategy and actually play games. At the end of the year, a championship tournament was held tm-determine LC's number one chess player.

While Bill Lessner is in deep concentration about his move, Allen Miller contemplates what he can do to win.

Thespians, Pep Club radiate pride

Sell-out crowds were entertained this year by LC's International Theatre Guild's productions of "Wait Until Dark", a thrilling drama, and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying", and a musical comedy. Each member of the Thespian Society was expected to work at least twenty hours on each of the plays to remain active in the club. To become eligible for the Thespian Society, a student must gain a total of ten points working on or off stage. One point is equivalent to fifteen hours of work toward a theatre production.

Pep Club members, in addition to the cheerleaders, received new uniforms this year in order to acquire a more uniformed look at sectionals. Senior members wore white wool jumpers over navy blue blouses, while the underclass members wore navy blue jumpsuits over white blouses. As money making projects, the Pep Club sold balloons, stuffed animals, suckers and also sweatshirts and T-shirts. In order to promote team spirit, the Pep Club members decorated players' lockers. The climax of the year came at the sectional games when Lake Central was awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Thespian officers and sponsors go over the intricate details of the set design for the next production.

Lettermen direct LC Turkey Trot

Traditional royal blue V-neck sweaters with class numerals, chevrons and an LC insignia distinguished athletes who had become members of the Lettermans Club. A letter from one sport was needed to join this honorary group. Jackets were available to those who had two letters from their involvement in athletics.

LC Lettermen took part in several activities during the year. They sold programs at home football games and the annual Turkey Trot was organized by the Lettermans Club. They also sponsored the Homecoming Dance in October. Letterman were in charge of roping off the basketball floor and sweeping it during halftime.

In February, heart-shaped wild cherry and butterscotch suckers were sold by LC Lettermen as their main money-making project. A prize of $25 was awarded to Jerry Craven for selling the most Valentine lollipops.

The Letterman's last activity was their annual cookout in May. They invited the Lake Central coaches to join them for a baseball game and outdoor steak fry.

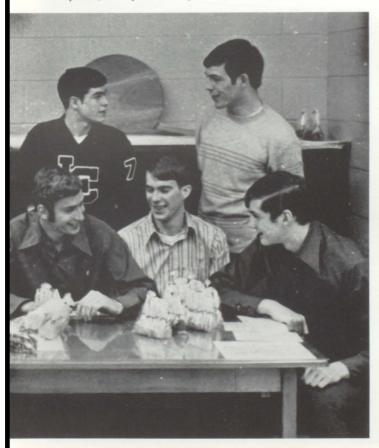

Executive Board members Tim Senzig, Bob White, Mr. Milby (sponsor), Mike Pavell, Jim Hawk, Jerry Craven, Bob Herrman, Bill Smith, Bernie Gerlach and Mark Schnaith hold an officers meeting with their advisor, Mr. Milby.

Canada is Sportsman's destination

Sponsor Mr. Doug Jordon, and president Steve Pozezanac, choose a new route for their next Canadian canoe trip.

Canada was the destination of the Sportsmans clubs of Lake Central High School. The Boy's Sportsmans club ventured into our northern neighbors' land this past summer for approximately two weeks. The Girl's Sportsmans club also made the Canadian trip later in the summer.

The trip consisted of camping out at night in tents and sleeping bags, preparing meals over campfires, and making frequent canoe trips up the many river and lakes of the Canadian wilderness. Parental permission, plus points earned through campouts, weekend outings, and the annual raffle were the main requirements for the Canada trips. Usually about twenty members with the highest number of points are chosen to attend each year.

A back-packing trip was also planned for the Boy's Sportsmans club. It was an eight mile hike, with each camper carrying all his needs in one pack. Each person was held responsibile for his own supplies, including building shelters and fixing meals each day.

During Easter vacation, the Girl's Sportsmans club went on a canoe trip in their home state of Indiana. This trip, a type of trial run, enabled the girls to improve their camping skills, at the same time gaining experience for the summer trek into the wilderness.

Mr. Jordon explains the planned itinerary for the Girl's Sportsmans Club's Canadian expedition.

Art Club fashions unique blossoms

Active in the local community as well as the high school, the Art Club made an all-community Art Exhibit their main project of the year. The exhibit, an annual event at Lake Central, is open to any talented person in the area, bringing out the hidden talent in our community artists.

As a money making project, the club designed their own tissue paper flowers, which were sold to Lake Central students. Two months of preparation were needed to finish the flowers and advertise this unusual project, a first at LC. All the flowers were sold on one day only.

Only established last year, the Bridge Club is an informal organization, not having elected officers or a constitution. The meetings took place daily during home room, with members forming their own teams, gaining experience in the complicated game of bridge. A textbook was provided as a guide for the beginners, aided by occasional lessons by Mrs. Karon Bailey, sponsor.

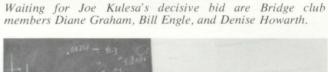

A final tournament in the spring determined the number one bridge team, rewarding many weeks of practice while constantly improving their technique.

Laurie Smith and Cheryl Blaho offer some constructive criticism to Kathy Schneider's entry in the Art Fair.

Art Club members put their creativity to work, trying to come up with original floral creations.

Ecology becomes new club concern

Supporting its team with a first place entry in the Decorated Car contest during Homecoming week was just one of the ways the Home Economics club became involved this year. Mid-year holidays were highlighted by a Christmas party, with refreshments being povided by the members themselves. Under the leadership of president Brenda Armstrong, the club sold Betty Crocker cookbooks as a major money making project for the year.

With a new name and a new purpose, the Science and Ecology Club became Lake's representative in the fight to preserve our environment. Each week, weather permitting, the members ventured outdoors to clean up the school, doing their part to help a nationwide effort. The club also asked that LC students bring in tin cans, smashed flat. These were turned in for money, at the same time fighting the destruction of our environment.

The annual Science Fair was the club's major project during the spring. Any student of Lake Central was eligible to enter, vying for a ribbon or a coveted gold medal. All medal winners then went on to the regional fair.

Centralites enjoy language clubs

In correlation with the foreign languages offered in the Lake Central curriculum, students may join the German, French and Spanish Clubs. This year these classes and clubs decorated their rooms to exemplify their native backgrounds. Each of these organizations held several noon hour bake sales throughout the year.

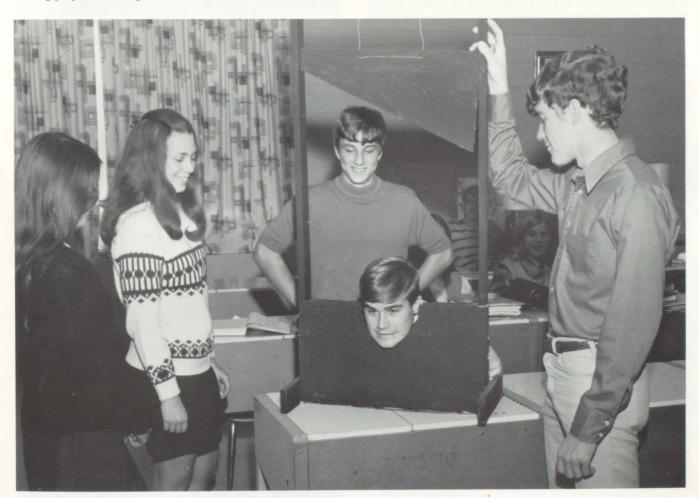

The German Club was advised by Mr. Hensley. This club presented their second Thanksgiving play with all the dialogue in German. "Kraut" members took the roles of pilgrims, turkeys and Indians when the first Thanksgiving was staged in the LC auditorium. The German Club sponsored the Wilhelm Tell booth at the carnival.

French Club members travelled to Chicago over Christmas vacation to view the works of French artists. Under the direction of Mrs. Lowe, this group constructed the Marriage and Nail Pound booths at the carnival. Scholarships were offered to senior members planning to continue their study of the French language.

Mr. Smith and Mrs. Selund were co-sponsors of the Spanish Club. This group repeated their annual moneymaking project of selling fruit cakes at Christmas time.

NHS & FTA seek further education

Honorary students in the junior and senior classes of Lake Central became eligible for membership into the National Honor Society. A new induction program was established this year by this honorary club. Instead of the standard ceremony which took place during an all school assembly, letters were sent to each of the National Honor Society candidates inviting them to a ceremony which took place during the evening in the auditorium. To obtain membership into the National Honor Society a student must keep a B + average throughout his high school years and must maintain the average while a member of this club. A faculty committee selects the members on the basis of character, service and leadership.

Students of Lake Central who are planning to become teachers can benefit their needs in the Future Teachers of America association. This club takes a close look at college and university possibilities. During sectionals, the club made and sold pieces of layer cake made in the shape of a basketball court with all the varsity players names on it.

Forensic club active in speech meets

Forensic club members find a selection to be read at the next meet humorous and respond in the typical manner.

Forensic Club became a small but powerful club this year. Speech and debate meets were held at neighboring schools to judge how students from different schools could interpret passages from plays, novels and poems. Awards in the form of ribbons were presented to the students who displayed an outstanding job of interpreting their selections. Nine students represented Lake Central each time a meet was held. Not only interpretations were involved, but also debates between teams on topics of interest in today's world were held. The debate team also received several awards for their presentation of facts to the judges and other schools involved in the debate.

The bookstore is a vital part of Lake Central High School. Selling notebooks, paper and pencils, the bookstore was very useful to the Lake Central Student. Operated and managed by the members of the Commercial Club, the bookstore sold text books as well as supplies. This year the Student Senate passed a law allowing the bookstore to remain open all through the day. This way it was made possible for students and faculty to purchase articles during classroom time and before school or during lunch hour. Members of the Commercial Club became more aware of the business opportunities and college offers in the business field.

MPC outings aid in career choices

By taking trips to different hospitals in the surrounding area, the Medical Professions club tried to expose its members to the different career aspects of the medical field. Under the leadership of their new sponsors, Miss Espey and Mrs. Probasco, the club members, who were interested in a medical career, listened to lecturers at the hospitals, learning what a future in medicine or nursing could mean for them. The club president for this year was senior Mary Fitch.

Some members planned on attending college, making pre-med or nursing their major, and then going into practice. But others are simply going to work at nearby hospitals and clinics, learning by practical experience.

Upon a teacher's request, audio-visual aides delivered any of equipment needed. This included machines such as tape recorders, film projectors and record players. Available each day, two boys were assigned to the audio-visual room for each house, distributing any needed equipment, all used in Lake's classes.

N-Teens create winter dream scene

One of the biggest service organizations at Lake Central was the N-Teens, which completed their second year under a new name. Although they had changed their title, breaking away from the area YWCA, the traditional activities were still retained. The annual football Homecoming yell contest was sponsored by them, with the Seniors taking first.

The N-Teens also gave a Halloween party to the children at the Trade Winds Rehabilitation Center. Each child was given a candy basket, taking the holiday a happier one for both the children and the members.

The annual winter formal, "A Mid-Winter's Dream," was held at the high school in the foyer. For the first time the fieldhouse wasn't used. The dance floor was in the fover, and the chairs and refreshments were located in the hall adjacent to the general office. Music was provided by "Oscar and the Majestics," with Senior candidate Lois Mican reigning over the evening festivities. "I Dare You," a singing group created from N-Teens members, performed many places outside of the area. One of the season's highlights was performing for the men at the Hines Veterans Hospital. The group also visited other places including grade schools and a retirement home, spreading their message to everyone.

Carnival funds provide scholarships

Quill and Scroll president Shirley Gilliam listens to suggestions for revising the spring induction ceremony.

Quill and Scroll was a club for students active in the Journalism Department and who had received the necessary number of points. This year 24 Seniors qualified.

The club had three money making projects in '70-'71, with all profits going toward summer workshop scholarships for juniors that would be on staff their senior year. Two projects took place simultaneously during the holiday season. Along with their annual candy cane sale, they sold fresh mistletoe to promote the holiday cheer.

As their major money making project, the Quill and Scroll once again presented the annual carnival. Under the direction of chairman Kathy Winicki, LC students saw the foyer transformed into a scene from "Jungle Book," this year's theme. Jungle sounds echoed through the field-house as people tested their skills in hopes of a prize. The annual junior-senior powder puff football game was another money maker.

With no membership requirement, Campus Life tried to involve all Lake Central students, creating fun, friendships, and sharing the Christian Life. Working along with the Calumet area members, they sponsored a "Pillow Fight" and a "Swim Night" at Lowell High School. Lake Central members also participated in the annual "Scream in the Dark." Members were transformed into ghosts, goblins, and ghouls, ready to give any customer a realistic fright.

Scout informs Centralites of events

Photographers catch Ron Fritchley, advisor of the Scout, in one of his natural poses of not knowing what to do next.

To meet the weekly deadline each Friday, Scout staff members rushed to complete their stories, always getting the paper out on time. Under the guidance of Editor Karen Oxenreiter, the staff produced a weekly newspaper that was a supplement to an area paper, "The Herald."

Many new columns were added this year including an article by a married student, "The Establishment Teenager." Dave Sims wrote a weekly column on various subjects giving his opinions on topics ranging from world politics to school problems. This column, "As I See It," sparked controversy among the student body. "Administrative Notebook" informed students of various school issues from the administration's viewpoint, while the SGA president wrote a bi-weekly column explaining their activities. Other weekly columns included fashions, sports, poetry and music.

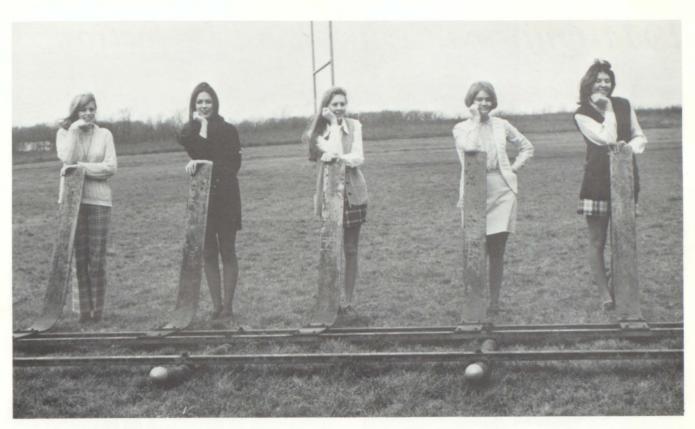

Striving to inform the public of student activities and school functions was the major task of the News Bureau. Under the leadership of Deb Janda, the members of the staff not only contacted 17 newspapers in Lake County, but also corresponded with nine radio stations and Lake Central's WCAE television studio. Deb also had the responsibility of choosing a representative from Lake Central to appear in the Times' weekly opinion poll.

A division of the News Bureau staff, Cheryl Weber was this year's TV Editor. With this position, Cheryl was in charge of organizing students from different school's to produce news shows every Thursday on WCAE.

Dave Blastick, Phyllis Sjoersdma, Cathy Winterhaler, Phil LithLerland, Dave Sims, and Denise Howarth each proclaim

1971 Quiver works toward perfection

Leadership duties were undertaken by editors Shirley Gilliam, copy, Marguerite Gerka, assistant, and Diane Graham, editor.

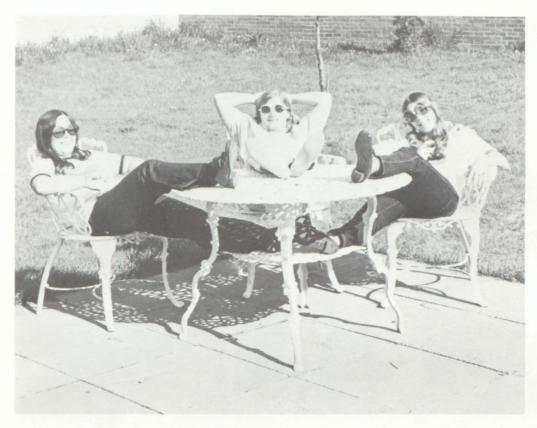

Layout staff members Jeanette Lambert, Deb Sidwell, Joan Davis, and Linda Walters work diligently to meet the deadline.

Members of the 1971 Quiver staff combined heavy schedules, and a wide variety of extra-curricular activities with hopes of producing LC's second "All-American" yearbook. Boasting two Valedictorians; a varsity cheerleader; the student government president; band president; student director of the band; head drum major; the pep club president; leading lady in two musicals; a National Merit Finalist; three Outstanding Teenagers of America; Principal's Most Valuable Student; Best all-around girl; the Girl Most Likely to Succeed; Art Club president; Quill and Scroll president; and band and chorus members; staffers pooled their broad range of interests and talents into completion of a yearbook which would go to the LC student body as well as throughout the community.

Editors LuAnn Slawson, circulation, Lydia Ferguson, advertising, and Chris Teibel, business manager, relax in the sun.

Competition

Competition sparked athletics as each participant worked to improve abilities. Hours of strenuous practice were devoted to perfecting skills on the LC playing field, hardwood, mat and track. Centralite sportsmen were honored with selections to the All-State Football, All-Sectional and All-Conference Basketball squads. Three Indian matmen wrestled at regionals and one competed in the state wrestling finals. Four members of the track team ran in the regional meet and Lake Central captured its first baseball sectional champion-

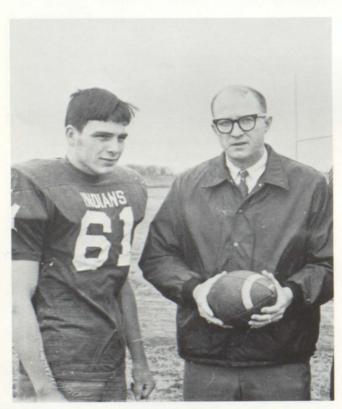

Athletes unified to form one precision unit for team sports. One man stood alone for individual events, yet he felt the victory fever of his teammates inspire him to overcome his opponent. The sweat, toil and strain of struggling for a winning score was rewarded with the superiority of victory or the repulsion of defeat. Regardless of the outcome of the contest, each athlete gained experience and accomplishments to remember.

Tie shatters conference hope for LC

Gary Massey talks with Head Coach Hal Traviolia after being selected as an all-state guard.

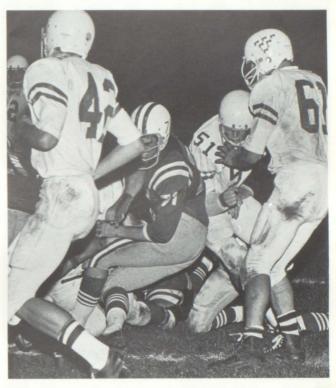

Lake Central's varsity squad will look back at this year's football season with both a sense of achievement and disappointment. After only one year at Lake Central, Head Coach Hal Traviolia kept his promise and turned the Indian team into a winner. The gridders opened the season by defeating Hanover Central 26-13. The next game proved to be another mark in the Indians' favor with a 30-0 victory over Gary Emerson. Disappointment hit the "Big Blue Machine" as it fell to the mighty Highland Trojans in a 14-12 finish, which put the Indians into a tie for second in conference play. Lake Central bounded back with three consecutive wins, beating Calumet 45-0, long standing rival Crown Point 8-0 and a newly scheduled team Benton Central 20-6.

As homecoming drew near, excitement filled the locker room. The game against Munster was to be the deciding factor in the outcome of the Lake Suburban Conference. After two full quarters of play, Munster led 6-0. In the third quarter Brad Moore received a pass from Ed LeVine to tie the score. But no matter how the Indians tried, they could not get on the scoreboard again, and the game ended in a 6-6 tie. With conference hopes shattered, the Indians went on to win two of their last three games, beating Lowell 39-0, Griffith 36-9 and falling to Merrillville 19-18.

After ending with a 7-2-1 record, the Indians were honored with Rich Krajewski, Brad Moore and Mike Varga being names to the all-conference team. Even higher honors were bestowed on Lake Central with Gary Massey being named an all-state guard.

Mike Gibson (22) attempts to aid Danny Perez (24) as he fights for extra yards against Munster.

Helped by Brad Moore (42), Jon Hook (51) and Gary Massey (61), quarterback Ed LeVine plunges in for an LC touchdown.

Dan Perez (24) and Brad Moore (42) look toward the crucial play that spells out victory or defeat for the Indian squad.

Striving for another Indian victory, defensive men Mike Varga (32) and Bill Moore (65) rush Calumet's quarterback in an attempt to break up a crucial pass play.

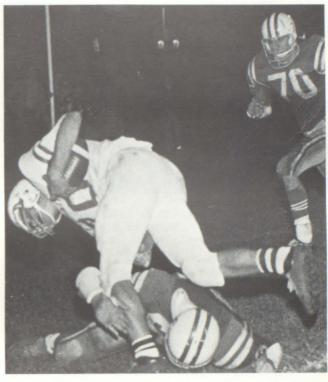

Coach Justak and Coach Wietecha watch calmly as the explosive Indian defense scrambles to catch Munster's quarterback behind the line of scrimmage for a loss.

JV displays rugged varsity material

Although the Lake Central junior varsity ended with a 3-4-1 record, their season was a better show than the record indicated. With the help of Coach Justak and Coach Linger, the young Indian squad proved to be a strong team. After opening the season with a tough 12-12 tie with the Highland Trojans, the junior gridders, lead by sophomore Tim Bannon, took a 20-8 victory over the Lowell Red Devils. With a 1-0-1 record under their belts, the junior varsity took a disappointing loss against the tough Munster Mustangs in a heartbreaking 8-7 finish.

With Bannon being moved up to the varsity squad, senior Ted Feledy took over the signals, and lead the young gridders through two consecutive wins over the Crown Point Bulldogs 14-9 and the Hanover Central Wildcats 41-0. With several of the junior varsity members being moved to varsity, the remaining team had to juggle their positions around to fill the vacancies. Even with the spectacular running of Tim Senzig and pass receiving by junior Rick Ferguson and sophomore Jeff Gullickson, the young Indians tasted bitter defeat three straight times, losing to the Merrillville Pirates 30-29, the tough Valparaiso squad 21-17, and the fierce Griffith Panthers 50-34.

Even showing an over-all losing record, the young Indian gridders displayed an optimistic future for the coming varsity squad. The junior varsity will bring back 15 juniors and 20 sophomores to contribute to next year's varsity squad.

Quarterback Ed LeVine strains desperately to get those last needed yards for an Indian touchdown.

Playing for the 1970 JV team were Front Row (l to r): M. Buchler, E. Boecker, M. Smith, M. Pavlik, K. Ogden, L. Larkin, D. Lay, T. Senzig. Second Row: M. Kapitan, M. Schilling, M. Duncan, B. Babcock, C. Hilbrich, S. DeMory, D. Gerlach, J. Kidd, G. Jackson. Third Row: D. Decker, M.

Harwood, G. Brown, D. Sjoerdsma, R. Croner, H. O'Hare, D. Rietman, G. Bickham. Back Row: Coach Justak, T. Bannon, T. Turpin, P. Krajewski, E. Burke, G. Peters, P. Haralovich, T. O'Leary, J. Kapelinski, D. Bielski, Coach Linger.

Freshmen captured by winning spirit

Defensive backs Bill Engle and Dan Perez trip up Crown Point's Quarterback and prevent a needed touchdown.

Under the guidance of Coach Lemon and Coach Komara, the little Indian squad finished their first season for Lake Central with a winning record of 4-3. Led by Lyle Govert, the little gridders started the season with a close 21-18 loss to the Griffith Panthers. The young Indian team then went on to beat Ridge 14-8, but reversed the score and fell to the Merrillville Pirates 14-8. The little Indians volleyed their wins and losses back and forth by beating the Taft Tigers 28-14, then losing to the Highland Trojans 16-0.

With a record of 2-3 so far in the season, the young Indian squad finally got their feet planted on solid ground. With the help of end Rick Eberly, the freshman team went on to win their last two games, beating the Munster Mustangs 22-6, and the Lowell Red Devils 14-8.

Senior end Brad Moore (42) lands heavily after completing a first down pass against Calumet.

LC roundballers set up winning pace

Though ending the season with a disappointing sectional loss, the 1971 varsity basketball season was an outstanding one. Opening the season with a 69-66 loss to Hammond Clark, last year's regional downfall, the Indian squad beat Hammond Morton, 75-66. With another tough loss to Chesterton, 56-50, the LC roundballers went on to win their next four games straight, beating the Griffith Panthers, 74-65, Gary Wirt, 83-64, the Calumet Warriors, 50-48, and the Hanover Central Wildcats, 82-58.

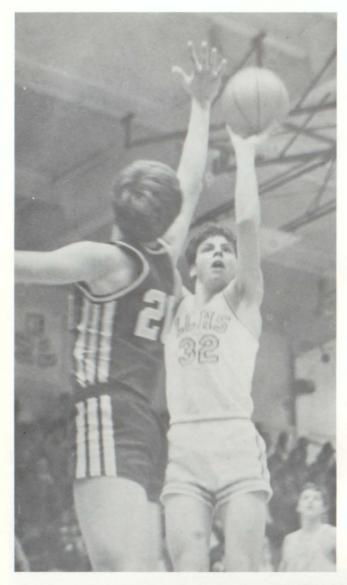

During the Christmas vacation when everyone else rested up, the LC Indians played in the East Chicago Roosevelt Holiday Tournament. In semi-final play the Indians took an easy win over the Hammond High Wildcats, 77-64, entitling the squad to play in the final game against state ranked East Chicago Roosevelt. Tough in spirit, the Indians bowed to the taller, stronger Roughriders, 83-54.

LC revived its winning fever by beating consecutively three tough teams, the Whiting Oilers, 83-59, the Portage Indians, 75-70, and the Crown Point Bulldogs, 71-68. The Indians then fell to the Munster Mustangs, 67-49, which threw the squad out of first place in the Lake Suburban Conference race. Winning the next game against River Forest, 83-78, the LC roundballers prepared for their next meeting with the first place conference team, the Highland Trojans. Though try as they may, the Indians could not muster up a win, and clinched Highland's first place with a tough 63-50 loss. The Indian squad then split their wins and losses in their five final games, beating Lowell, 77-73, Merrillville, 86-71, and East Gary, 77-74, and losing to Hobart, 79-74, and Hammond Tech, 79-70. At the end of the season, the LC Indians found themselves with the best season record in the Lake Central's history, 14-7.

LC squad downed by Panther fury

Hot with an uncontrolable winning fever, the Lake Central varsity basketball squad set out to capture their second straight sectional victory.

This year Indian fans found their sectional host to be the Calumet Warriors. Because of the new conference divisions and Calumet's newly completed gymnasium, sectionals were moved from the traditional Crown Point spot to the newer, more adequate Calumet gym.

But even in these unfamiliar surroundings the Indians fought their way in to the semi-final game by conquering the Hebron Wolverenes.

LC went into the next game with high spirits but found their spirits broken by an astounding performance of the Griffith Panthers. Try as they may, the Indians could not come out of a cold shooting streak, while one of Griffith's forwards hit a high of 42 points for the evening. With these two things against them, the Indians fell with a heartbreaking 71-68 loss. Sectional hopes were gone, but the Indians still finished with the best season record in Lake Central's history, 13-6.

Individual achievements were bestowed upon Senior Bill Smith with the highest point average, junior Terry Nigh with the most rebounds and Senior Brad Moore with the best free-throw average. In addition Bill Smith was named to the Lake Suburban All-Conference team.

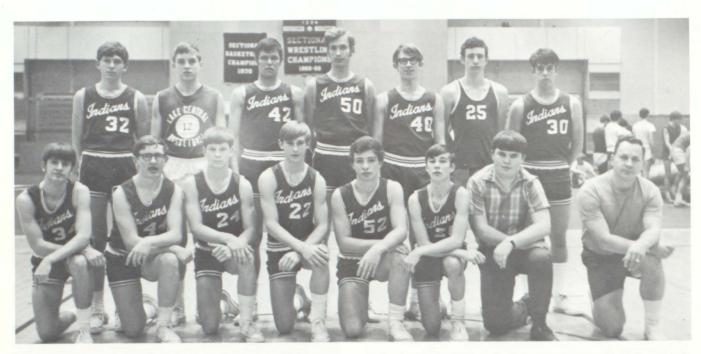

Tim Anderson (32) and Terry Nigh (42) watch in anticipation as Kevin Fox leaps high for two points.

Brad Moore (52) backs up Bill Smith (44) as he attempts to add two points in the Indians' favor.

JV trains for future varsity action

Pilarcik. Back Row: J. Jernberg, G. Peters, J. Gullickson, J. Hawk, M. Pavell, J. Gray, T. Bannon.

Junior varsity basketball players saw plenty of action under the watchful eye of Coach Al Pilarcik. The young hoopsters compiled an 8-12 record and captured third place in the Griffith JV Invitational tourney.

Jeff Gullickson and Jim Hawk led the team in scoring for the season with Tim Bannon, Tim Senzig, and Jeff Matson at the other starting positions. The 1970-71 team had wins over Chesterton, Gary Wirt, Calumet, Hanover Central, Whiting, Hobart, Hammon Tech, and Merrillville.

The junior varsity is used as a training ground for future varsity competition with each player getting into every game as many minutes as possible. Most JV players are chosen by Coach Peyton to move up to the varsity squad during their junior and senior seasons.

Junior Ed LeVine (20) attempts to add two more points for the Indians in their drive against the Munster Mustangs.

Freshmen win tournament trophies

This years freshman season turned out to be an outstanding one for both the A and B team.

After winning three out of their first eight games of the season, the freshman A-team beat the Griffith Panthers in the semi-finals 45-30, and the previously unbeaten Highland Trojans in the final game 39-37, to capture the Highland Invitational Tournament.

After winning two of their next three games, the young Indians swept another tournament and avenged earlier defeats by beating Taft 43-37, and Merrillville 46-44. The A-team then went on to win one out of their last three games and finished the season with a heartbreaking loss to Highland 35-34, in overtime. The A-team's overall record ended 10-9, but the season proved outstanding by winning both tournaments in which they participated.

New coach adds winning spirit to LC

Senior Mike Babbitt looks for the finish line as he runs just a few steps in front of a Highland harrier.

Lake Central experiences a first for the Indian harriers this year. They won their first meet in history. New members and most important new coaching proved to be the correct combination to bring the Indians across the finish line in first place.

Coming from Whiting High School, Coach Pete Tumbas brought his experience and his ideas. As students arrived in the morning to begin a regular school day, they could view the cross country team arriving at school after a brisk warm up down the back road. However, Coach Tumbas and his techniques paid off.

With only six members on last year's team, cross country has already tripled its size. Having only five returning lettermen, Coach Tumbas molded 16 new members and the five returning boys into a new team. Though not a winning season, the harriers improved vastly from their previous performances. The Indian team came in a winner twice during the season. In a dual meet, Lake Central beat East Gray 25-36. In a quadrangular meet, Lake Central came in third, beating Hammond Gavit 89-96. In sectional performance, the Lake Central harriers came in 13th out of 20, but had the greatest improvement of any other team in the entire sectional

For the first time, Lake Central hosted their first cross country invitational meet. E.C. Roosevelt, Lowell, Whiting, Hanover Central, and River Forest participated. A team trophy and individual trophies and ribbons were presented.

Bill Smith and Jim Hawk race to catch up with Ken Jostes, and bring the three top places home for LC.

tadauro, M. Babbitt, S. Berglund, P. Svast, B. Smith. Back Row: D. Morris, K. Fox, J. Scheive, J. Hawk, D. Edwards, R. Sidwell, Coach Tumbas.

Grapplers shine in tournament action

This year's wrestling season proved to be an eventful one. Besides finishing with a winning record, 6-4, the LC grapplers sent three wrestlers to regionals and one to state.

LC started the season with a loss to Hammond Tech, 26-28. They then alternated wins and losses by beating Crown Point, 47-5, and Chesterton, 25-16, and losing to Munster, 17-24, and Highland, 18-30. The grapplers went on to win their next three matches by beating Griffith, 27-21, Lowell, 35-9, and Hanover Township, 45-8. LC then finished the season with a loss to Calumet, 9-35, and a win against Merrillville, 32-13.

Besides regular season play, the LC wrestling team finished third in the East Chicago Holiday Tournament, second in the Hammond Tournament, fourth in sectionals, and sixth in regionals. Bringing individual honors to the team were Jerry Craven and Bob Winebrenner, both winning first place in conference and capturing sectional titles. Mike Gibson won first place in conference, captured the sectional and regional titles in the 145 lb. weight class, and finished fourth in state finals.

Junior Bob Winebrenner strains to pin his man as he clinches the sectional title for the 135 lb. weight class.

LC thinclads win in sectional meet

With the help of first year coach Pete Tumbas, Lake Central's varsity track team made a greatly improved showing for this season's play. Lake Central opened the season with indoor competition. The Lake Central thinclads finished second in all its meets, losing to and beating Lew Wallace-Lowell, Merrillville-River Forest, Portage-Hebron, and Griffith-Crown Point.

Lake Central then moved outdoors. Finishing second three times and third twice in their next five meets, the Indians ended the season with a close loss against Lew Wallace, 58-

In relay and tournament competition the Indians finished fourth in the Highland Relays, fifth in the Hammond Relays, second in the Griffith Relays, sixth in conference and ninth in sectionals.

After winning in sectionals Lake Central also sent their 880 relay team and their 440 runner to the Gary regionals. Making up the 880 relay team were Mike Pavell, Tim Turpin, and Kevin Fox. Kevin Fox was also the 440 runner. Both the 880 relay team and Fox finished fifth in competition.

Golfers finish with winning season

Made-up of four seniors, a junior and a sophomore the varsity golf team ended with a winning record of 11-8 for the 1971 season.

At the start of the season LC won its first two meets against Hammond Tech and River Forest. Falling twice to Merrillville, Chesterton and Munster the Indians won four out of their next eight meets, beating Valparaiso, Griffith, Lowell and Calumet. The Indians then travelled to LaPorte to compete in the LaPorte Invitational where they placed 12th in competition. Losing to Crown Point and Munster and beating Griffith, LC held its own invitational where they came in tenth. The Indians then went on to win four of their last six meets beating Hammond Tech, Hammond Morton, Hanover and Calumet and losing to Highland and Andrean. LC finished the season by placing 6th in sectional action.

Coach Al Pilarcik and his varsity baseball squad started the season on a sour note with four consecutive losses before downing Calumet 1-0. After Completing the regular season with a 7-10 mark, the fighting Indians honed to a sharp edge as they dropped Lowell 6-0 in the opening round of the Crown Point Sectional. Playing top-notch defense paid off as they won over Crown Point 4-2 to move into the championship round. Cary Govert started the final game against the Hebron Hawks, was followed on the mound by Jim Kidd and Dale Johnson finished the contest as the LC squad romped to an easy 13-0 win for the first sectional title in Lake Central history.

The Indians moved into regional action at East Chicago and fell victim to E.C. Washington Senators 3-1 to round out the season at 10-11.

Freshmen finish year 6-3; J-V ends 8-7

Junior-varsity Coach Justak lead the young Indians to a 8-7 record for the season and Coach Rich Ossanna watched as the freshmen improved to a 6-3 mark.

The J-V squad opened the season with a double-header sweep over the Whiting Oilers, then nailed the East Chicago Roosevelt nine for a 2-0 decision. River Forest lost 5-3 and Lowell 6-3 before the Indians fell to the Crown Point Bulldogs 11-4. LC lost to Calumet 5-0 and split with Valparaiso and East Chicago Washington in tourney action. Highland outlasted the Indians 10-9, Griffith slammed them 12-3, Merrillville shellacked LC 19-3 and Whiting toppled the locals 3-2 before they got back on the winning circuit with a 3-1 win over the Oilers. East Chicago Roosevelt closed the season on a losing note with a 6-3 decision.

The freshmen baseball squad highlighted the season with a 11-1 win over Munster and a 12-2 triumph over Merrillville, to win the Taft Tournament.

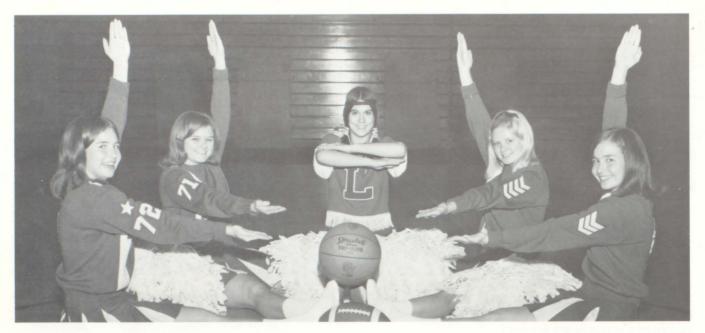

Junior Jerry Keilman, ready and waiting, attempts to rattle the batter with a little chatter from the field.

Spirited five lead Indians to trophy

Consisting of three juniors and two seniors this year's varsity squad not only cheered the Indian teams to many victories but brought home some wins of their own.

LC varsity cheerleaders brought home many different awards as they again travelled to the Smith-Walbridge cheerleading camp to improve their style and precision. After a week of diligent training and close competition, the cheerleaders returned with four first place ribbons and one second place ribbon for their efforts. They also brought home one of the few spirit sticks awarded to individual squads and finished among the top five squads out of 100 in the final competition.

LC added still another trophy to its case as the varsity squad led the basketball sectional cheer block to win the sportsmanship trophy at Calumet.

Making up the 1971 varsity cheerleading squad are (1 to r): P. Blaize, S. Ladd, P. Fanolla, mascot, J. Kasper, capt., J.

Kasper. The varsity squad led the pep block to LC's second sportsmanship trophy.

Cheerleaders add spirit stick to LC

Both the JV and the freshman cheerleading squads competed in cheerleading competition this year.

JV cheerleaders travelled with the varsity to the Smith-Walbridge cheerleading camp where they won many ribbons in junior competition. Working together the JV and varsity squads placed second in their division at state contest at Indiana State University.

Freshman cheerleaders won first place in their own invitational C.Y.O. cheerleading competition held at Lake Central. The freshman cheerleaders also managed to instil enough freshmen with spirit to fill three buses for the freshman tournament cheer block.

Lead by the varsity cheerleaders, Lake Central fans cheer the opening kick-off of another varsity football game.

Members of the 1971 freshman cheerleading squad are (1 to r): K. Burke, C. Burgard, K. Koepl, D. Lesniewski.

Centralites

Every Centralite was an individual with his own academic schedule, outside interests and personal background. Despite these differences, each person felt a unifying bond that knit him into the Lake Central student body. They cheered Indian teams, applauded actors and bandsmen and supported club action as group efforts were backed by all LCHS'ers. Many Lake students were not content to remain indifferent members of the school. Determined Centralites reached for achievements in scholarship, athletics, clubs, performing and service as they gave of themselves to polish the image of LCHS. Meeting in the foyer at noon, decorating the school for Christmas, painting stage sets, learning a band routine, working in organizations, practicing for sports contests and seeking academic knowledge drew LC students together. This closeness created friendships for the students of Lake Central and left each LCHS'er memories of fellow Centralites.

We've Only Just Begun is 1971 motto

Momentoes of the final night were the long-awaited diploma, the Baccalaureate-Commencement program, and the yellow rose which every senior girl received at Commencement

Seniors

Showing the spirit that had build up during their three underclass years, the Senior class of 1971 started their fourth year by winning the Football Homecoming Spirit Tomahawk, the N-Teens Yell Contest, second place float, and the King and Queen contest. Continuing their winning spirit, the class won the annual Lettermens Club Turkey Trot with a high score of nineteen points. With the arrival of the second semester, senior thoughts turned to counting credits, and making applications for colleges and jobs. Spring fever hit early and the longing to be outside drew seniors to the library court for games of Frisbee.

Then, before long, the end was drawing near. One of the last senior activities, Post Prom, was held at the Red Lion and featured the band, "In The Beginning". Finally came the long-awaited graduation.

The last decision made as a class was the choosing of the class flower, the yellow rose, and the class song and motto, "We've Only Just Begun". The donning of the blue and white robes brought the final realization that, with the farewell speech, the Class of 1971 was no longer the Senior class. With uncertain smiles and tears, the Class of 1971 marched out of Lake Central to begin a new phase of life.

The older you get, the younger you act. Seniors demonstrate this theory by piling up on a slide during Spring vacation er; and Kevin Fox, president, led the juniors in an exciting year. Most of the money used for the prom is made this year.

Juniors enter into an exciting year

The Class of 1972 was given many responsibilities during their third year at Lake Central. With the assistance of class advisors, Mr. Hensley and Mr. Bernthal, the juniors reached success in their efforts. They captured third place ratings for their floats at both football and basketball Homecomings.

Guiding the juniors were Kevin Fox, president; Kim Hoffman, vice-president; Deb Stanger, secretary; and Ann Hovermale, treasurer. They conferred with numerous committee chairmen and their sponsors on subjects concerning the class of '72 and their future activities.

Three varieties of ring styles were offered to the Lake juniors; square, round domed and round recessed. Anticipation increased because ring delivery was delayed for two months due to a strike at the factory.

Coke Bar chairman Suzanne Girman and Ron Welte organized work schedules for willing juniors to serve in the coke bar through the lunch hours at basketball games and during other school functions. They were also in charge of inventory, ordering supplies and keeping financial records for this major junior money-maker which finances the prom.

"Paris Beneath the Stars" was selected as the theme of the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom. Sue Teibel and Kim Hoffman were co-chairmen for this gala event scheduled for May 15. They worked with individual committees and their chairmen to insure unified decorations in the fieldhouse and foyer for the annual junior-presented formal dance in the LC Fieldhouse.

Sponsors, Mr. Hensley and Mr. Bernthal, managed to work out all the problems to produce a successful 1971 Prom.

Industrious Sophs snare class honors

Sophomores returned to Lake Central with confidence and familiarity with the school and the action within. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Randy Fenters and Mr. Dave Vignocchi, the Class of '73 became involved in many activities at Lake Central.

By accumulating several awards, sophomores gained honor. Their float, "L. C. Completes a Victory", took first place in the Homecoming Parade competition. They were also awarded a Spirit Stick for the best decorated Homecoming hall. Randy Smith, President, accepted the first annual Christmas hall prize on behalf of his class. In the Basketball Homecoming festivities, the sophomores gained another Spirit Stick for their hall decorations. Their minifloat also received top honors.

Sophomores chose long-sleeved, royal blue pullovers as their class sweaters. A multi-colored Indian head on the right shoulder and the "73" numerals on the sleeve completed the class symbols. The sweaters arrived in January.

Leading the Class of 1973 were Randy Smith, president; Anne Koremenos, vice-president; Carol Nagy, secretary; and Kathy Kelly, treasurer. They worked with the class directors to keep the sophomores an active segment of LCHS.

In March, sophomores placed orders for their class rings which will arrive early in the fall. Coke Bar chairmen were selected to have the refreshment stand functioning during summer school and ready for September.

Freshman initiation begins with pins

Freshman Centralites choose Marty Hansen, president; Becky Lancaster, vice-president; Kristen Douglas, secretary; and Steve Stecyk, treasurer as their class officers. Miss Linda Espey and Mr. Larry Eyre served as class sponsors. Then Mrs. Pam Miller replaced Mr. Eyre when he left for military service second semester.

The Class of '74 sold red and white carnation corsages as a money-making project for Valentine's Day. The freshman enjoyed a skating party at the Kahler gym as a social event one evening during January. Frosh girls played in the traditional freshman vs sophomore girls basketball game and lost to the class of '73 by a score of 21-13.

These young Centralites formed their own pep blocks for the tournaments the frosh Indians played in. Under the direction of the '74 cheerleaders and Mrs. Miller, "Winning Fever" was demonstrated to their basketball team.

Commerce

Commerce was a link between the community and Lake Central. Businesses purchased advertisements in LC Publications, football and play programs and contributed merchandise for the WCAE Auction. Lake students patronized local merchants and worked as part-time employees for area establishments.

Centralites needs were available at many local businesses. Books, clothes, food, typewriters, gasoline, banking service, cars and insurance were provided by area stores. Expert personnel readily help LC students with shopping information. LCHS'ers found nearby establishments an essential part of their leisure hours. They met at hamburger restaurants, ice cream shops and pizza places for refreshment and relaxation after bowling, going to a movie or playing miniature golf. Florists, hair grooming specialists and apparel stores assured Centralites of fashionable appearance for special events. Commerce provided innumerable goods, services and memories of this tie with the community.

Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was . . .
A time of innocence
A time of confidences.
Long ago . . . it must be . .
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.*

Quiver captures 1971 memories

"Don't tell me you lost the picture again?" . . . "But we only have two days left!" . . . "I don't believe it! I'm done!" Sound unfamiliar? It didn't to the 1971 Quiver staff—a staff which tried to preserve those unforgettable moments imprinted in each Centralite's mind through the printed page and picture. By their devotion and hard work, the 1971 Quiver clan created a unique memory book, relevant to the entire student body. For their assistance in creating the finished product, thanks go out to: Mr. Al Schlegelmich and Mr. George Kingsley, Paragon Press representatives
